Huge Dynamite Cache Found

THE DYNAMITE HOUSE IN SHADY
(Freeman photo by Haines)

By WALTER S. CLARK

WOODSTOCK

Discovery and seizure of a large cache of dynamite in an abandoned house in a secluded wooded section of Shady, has touched off an intensive investigation by key investigators of the State Police in cooperation with special agents of the FBI.

The New York City Bomb Squad is also investigating with local authorities, it was disclosed.

Investigators are deeply concerned and are pressing a probe to determine whether the "more than 150 pounds" of dynamite may have been destined for use to carry out a plot of destruction in this immediate area or elsewhere.

Experienced police officials recall a wave of excitement that swept through the country several months ago after authorities were tipped off that a plot was underway to blow up fully manned police stations in many cities.

An official commented that the inquiry presently underway could have "wide ramifications."

The dynamite confiscated on Monday by state police officers is of sufficient quantity and quality that it "could cause wide destruction" over a large area if exploded in large amounts, an official commented.

Every effort is being made by investigators to check the source of the explosives. Manufacturers are being interviewed as the probe is pursued locally under direction of Senior BCI Investigators Charles Teelon and Edward Shannon of the Kingston State Police Zone headquarters.

Some Questions

Could the dynamite have been hidden in the unoccupied house by some ruthless person or persons who may have been involved in a plot to cause destruction locally or in some other areas?

That possibility has not been eliminated by authorities, who also said it is possible that someone in the area purchased the explosives and stored them in the Shady residence for future use.

Did the seizure of the dynamite thwart a plan to raise havoc to some particular area or buildings occupied by certain persons?

That is another possibility that is being given close consideration.

Investigator Teelon reluctantly confirmed a report brought to the attention of a Freeman reporter, that "something was going on" in the vicinity of the former Marnell residence in a secluded woods area off Hutchin Hill Road in Shady.

Residents of the Town of Woodstock hamlet had seen state police cars and troopers, who appeared to be guarding the house Sunday night and again the following morning. People of the area were curious and concerned.

Reports in the community circulated that the house in recent months had been used as a hippie commune. Windows had been broken, doors pried open and a general appearance inside the building showed evidence of vandalism.

BCI investigators explained that a resident had found the large quantity of dynamite in bags hidden in the house Sunday afternoon.

State Police investigators with uniformed men went to the area and spotted the explosives with a quantity of caps used to touch off the blasts. Teelon said no wire or other equipment used to set off the explosions had been found.

Deciphering Writing

Also found in the house were papers with writing, but authorities did not identify this material. They explained that efforts are being made to decipher the writing to ascertain whether the papers had any connection with the dynamite.

Commenting on the amount of dynamite seized, an investigator said the explosive was "considered an unusual amount under certain circumstances."

Whether the dynamite had been carried along Hutchin Hill Road to the hiding place, or carted to the house along another back road, or transported along the nearby Sawkill Creek, had not been determined.

Meanwhile, the explosives have been removed by expert handlers and taken to the Hercules Powder Plant, where it will be stored pending further developments in the investigation.

Viet War Budget Seen $17 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's secret budget for the Vietnam war in the coming fiscal year is estimated by congressional experts at between $16 billion and $17 billion.

This would compare with unclassified estimates that put war spending at about $23.2 billion for the current year ending June 30, the Associated Press learned exclusively.

Nixon's new budget, which went to Congress this week, offered no estimate of the cost of the war during the year starting next July, and this secrecy has drawn a protest from a ranking Democratic critic of U.S. policy.

"I can see no justification for classifying the cost of the war," said Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Nixon budget said new estimates would offer a tipoff to the size or the timing of future American troop withdrawals.

"I don't think he really knows how much will have to be spent before July 1971," Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview. "Certainly, he has to have flexibility. Costs have been materially reduced in the past few months."

Sen. George S. McGovern, (D-S.D.), calls President Nixon's withdrawal plans from Vietnam a "Political hoax." Story Page 32.

Congressional appropriations experts, basing their estimates on current spending, announced U.S. troop withdrawals, and the likelihood of further pullbacks later, have produced the $16 to $17 billion estimate.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Jan. 7 he anticipated outlays between $17 and $18 billion for conduct of the war during the new fiscal year.

"If everything goes as planned, I would say that is a maximum figure," Aiken said of the Laird estimate.

Fulbright said he may call economists and finance experts before the Foreign Relations Committee to discuss the cost of the war, not only in budget dollars but in indirect spending.

Meanwhile, in the war zone,

American reconnaissance helicopters spotted 100 North Vietnamese troops moving down a stream bed 21 miles north of Saigon Tuesday night, and 23 were killed by helicopter gunships, bombers and artillery, military spokesmen reported today.

No American casualties were reported, although some of the helicopters drew small-arms and rocket-grenade fire.

Military spokesmen said eight groups of North Vietnamese were spotted moving to the southwest.

"The North Vietnamese ran into a bamboo thicket," said S. Sgt. L.E. Perkins of Franklin, La., a helicopter crewman. "The gunships fired into the thicket and the North Vietnamese started running out from everywhere."

Agnew Blasts Critics as Aimless

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Senate hearings on Vietnam policy, although the Arkansas Democrat conceded "it is much too soon to begin picking and choosing among the various resolutions."

Agnew, in telling newsmen Tuesday the war critics were fishing for a political angle, said the people are behind the administration's Vietnamization policy "and no amount of self-serving statements by opposition senators are going to change that."

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the GOP leader, scheduled an appearance before the committee today on behalf of his proposal for a resolution supporting the President. The resolution, also backed by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, includes a call for steps toward a mutual ceasefire.

Much of the discussion on the opening day of the hearings concerned how much effect the sessions would have, and how they would be covered by the news media.

Much of the discussion on the opening day of the hearings concerned how much effect the sessions would have, and how they would be covered by the news media.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican on the committee, said the political benefits from the new round of hearings on Vietnam "will be very slight in the long run."

"So long as there is a steady reduction in the personnel and casualties," Aiken said in an interview, "it will be an uphill job to make a political issue of it."

But some of the boys are trying.

One war critic testifying Tuesday, Sen. Harold E. Hughes, charged the administration had coerced the news media to bring about a "national euphoria" concerning the war.

The Iowa Democrat later confirmed he was referring to critical remarks Agnew made last fall about news media. Hughes said the vice president's remarks had the effect of "calming down" coverage of opposition to the war.

In addition to Hughes, other war policy critics Tuesday were Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo.; Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y. Goodell and Hughes accused the administration of lulling the American people into euphoria.

DAVID M. KENNEDY

Kennedy's Word Triggers Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, starved for an encouraging word, feasted Tuesday on remarks by Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy indicating that lower interest rates may be just around the corner.

"That happy day may be closer to hand than most people realize," he said in a speech that triggered a rally on Wall Street.

Sluggish until Kennedy's statement reached investors, the market broke loose in heavy trading. The Dow Jones industrial average rocketed from a loss of 3.37 points to a gain of more than 18 and closed ahead 11.02 at 757.46. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange soared to 16.05 million shares.

Kennedy, addressing 300 business executives at a savings bond campaign luncheon, said: "Once the inflationary psychology is broken and the business community and the public in general begin to look forward to greater stability, interest rates will drop to a more reasonable level and other salutary effects will be felt throughout the economy."

Monetary restrictions have been named by brokers as the main cause of the market's sharp decline in recent months. Investors, at least initially, seemed to ignore Tuesday some words of caution interlarded among Kennedy's optimistic remarks.

In this vein, he said that for "those who doubt the determination of our anti-inflation effort... I want to say as strongly as I can that they are badly mistaken. We will continue our policies of restraint until we have restored basic health and stability to the economy."

Kennedy also said the Administration's anti-inflation battle "clearly is beginning to make headway." An economic slowdown is taking place, he said, "without dislocation of a sudden, jarring move into reverse."

The Nixon Administration has clearly indicated it expects interest rates to drop this year, and some of the figures in the new Federal budget are based on that assumption. That would and April 1," Eckstein said, "if support Kennedy's contention unemployment does move up that interest rate declines, and if the rate of increase of resulting from a more stable prices shows a substantial improvement."

The Federal Reserve Board "will be free to make its first visible move toward a accommodating rapid.

Torraca Paves Way for Vogt Candidacy

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca's expected announcement that he would not be a candidate for reelection this year was made today, paving the way for first assistant district attorney Francis J. Vogt to throw his hat into the ring. Vogt received the endorsement of the Ulster County Republican Committee recently.

Torraca, who has served Ulster County for the past 14 years said that his decision not to run was mainly based on the new law which goes into effect this year. This law states that anyone elected or appointed as district attorney after April 1, in counties of over 100,000, must do so on a full-time basis. It also specifies that the DA must give up all private law practice and any outside interest that would conflict with the office of district attorney.

Torraca stated that he does not disagree with the philosophy that a prosecutor should be full time to properly take care of the DA's duties and responsibilities. "As a matter of fact," he said, "for the past three years, I personally supported the concept of a full time district attorney with a full time staff."

"However," he said, he "believes the legislation creating full time district attorneys short-changed prosecutors in that it overlooks two very important matters: one being salary, the other being term of office."

"The full time bill does not provide for any salary provision for district attorney. In addition, the term of office is for three years which means that anyone running for the office will run without a salary commitment for a three-year period in return for which he must give up all private law practice."

Torraca said that it was not an easy decision to make inasmuch as much of his life has been devoted to law enforcement.

"The decision was made with deep reflection," he said, adding that he was also mindful of his duties and responsibilities to his family.

The Marlboro father of five, who is the newly-elected president of the New York State District Attorney's Association, has told The Freeman in the past of his support and the DA Association's support of the full time district attorney position.

He has explained that the state does not set salaries for the post. That task will fall to the Ulster County Legislature which might possibly suggest that the salary be commensurate with that of a county judge — $25,000 annually.

Torraca's present salary as part time DA is $12,500. In the past he has argued that the post is usually assumed during a lawyer's prime money-making years and it is therefore not expedient for a man to give up his practice and take on the uncertainties of politics in seeking reelection when the term of office is a short three years. He said he would like to see the term of office increased. The Legislature when considering the full time district attorney bill indicated it felt the measure was necessary in view of population and crime increases.

A graduate of Fordham University, Torraca received his law degree from New York Law School. He served on the staff of New York District Attorney Frank Hogan as a law investigator for two years. Included in his years of law enforcement and criminal investigation are three years as an agent of the U.S. Naval Intelligence Agency.

Fish on 'Timber Woods Bill'... Much Opposition in District

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Hundreds of persons and organizations convinced that Congressman Hamilton Fish should help to put the ax to the "Timber Woods Bill" before Congress today, have deluged his Washington and 28th District offices the past two days with telephone calls, telegrams and messages in opposition to the measure.

The bill, officially known as the National Forest Timber Conservation and Management Act of 1969 would allow 76 million acres of federal timberland now set aside for multiple use to be used for high yield logging. The land in question is located mainly in the west in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

Fish, touring the district Monday and Tuesday, said that never before in his 13 months in office has he received such strong and opposing sentiment on any bill before Congress. In addition to the many calls and letters from individuals he has received messages from such organizations as the Sierra Club, Isaac Walton League, Audubon Society, National Committee on Natural Resources and the National Rifle Association. Messages have poured in from Buffalo, to Boise, Idaho including one from Arthur Godfrey. Only Kimberly Clark, paper products manufacturers favored the bill.

Not wanting to go out on a limb and take a stand before studying the measure, Fish never-the-less flew to Washington today "expressing deep skepticism about any effort to invade the federal preserve." He said he would talk with his staff which has researched the bill during the past two days and would consider it from all angles before voting on it. Fish also cautioned that "he can't imagine that such a proposal would come out of committee without expert advice."

The bill is co-sponsored by a dozen or more Congressmen from all over the country including James Hanley of Syracuse, Mario Biaggi of the Bronx and National GOP Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland.

Although 28th District constituents from all of the five-county area have phoned the Fish offices in opposition, a particularly large number came from Woodstock, according to John Naccarato, Fish's aide in Ulster County who reported the phone "hasn't stopped ringing."

munity.
Barnum was charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs after the discovery of 81 decks of heroin found in his car. The youth was arraigned before Town Justice Rexford Schneider, who fixed bail at $5,000 and committed Barnum to the county jail pending a preliminary hearing on Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Police said a car reportedly operated by Barnum went out of control on Route 32 at about 1 p. m. and apparently was disabled. Barnum left the scene on foot.

Patrolman John Savago investigated the mishap and notified Highland State Police. BCI Investigator Carl Van Wageningen and Trooper C. J. Bebenec joined the investigation and search of Barnum's car disclosed the thermos bottle in which authorities said they found the heroin.

Troopers reported that at 4:30 p. m. Barnum appeared at the Town Hall to report the automobile accident. He was cited by Officer Savago for being an unlicensed operator. Taken before Judge Schneider the youth pleaded guilty to the vehicle and traffic violation and was fined $50.

Barnum was immediately taken into custody and charged with possessing the dangerous drugs.

Ownership, Maintenance Plattekill Board Topics

MODENA

The question of ownership and maintenance of Ridge Road in the Lynn Homes Inc., housing development in Modena, was discussed at this week's special meeting of Plattekill Town Board held in this community.

A group of residents representing 12 homes in the development attended the meeting and asked the town to take over this new road.

Supervisor George Sisti Jr. advised the group under what conditions the town could accept a dedicatory deed to the road. He noted the town must be given a deed for the 50-foot right-of-way and the road must be constructed in accordance with town highway specifications.

He advised the residents, that for their own protection, they should retain an attorney. Supervisor Sisti said the Town Highway Department could not maintain the road or keep it plowed in the winter until it was legally dedicated to the town.

John Denton, the owner of the road who was in attendance said he was willing to turn over 900 feet of the road, but 1,100 feet would have to be deeded over by Lynn Homes Inc.

Supervisor Sisti said Denton reportedly sold his interests in

Model Cities Contract for Poughkeepsie

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Tuesday a $1,685,000 model cities contract for Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Secretary George Romney said the money would enable the city to begin the first year action phase of its five-year model cities program.

the development to Lynn Homes. He said the homeowners have no guarantees in their deeds or escrow account arrangements to assure completion of the road to meet Town Highway Department specifications.

Subdivision control regulations adopted by the town more than a year ago does not cover this development which was started before the regulations were in force, the supervisor said.

Supervisor Sisti said today, there is some question as to who own the property and who is now the developer of record. He therefore advised the residents involved to band together and retain an attorney in order that they may be advised of their legal rights in the matter.

Sisto noted he could not obligate the other taxpayers of the town to have the road completed to meet town highway specifications and legally the town cannot maintain or plow private roads.

Ice Victim

The barge shown above appears to have been ravaged by the ice floe in the Rondout Creek near Ray's Riverside Restaurant before it partially sank under the weight of ice and water. The barge was formerly owned by the Hughes Bros. firm of New York City, and according to available information it is presently owned by a contracting firm that was connected with laying cables from Kingston Point to Rhinebeck. It was understood that the craft Agnes Hughes will be pumped out and removed when the ice clears from the creek. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Salary Hikes and Zoning Step

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON The application to the State Office of Planning Assistance was approved with no comment from the aldermen. The city will be obligated to a maximum of $1,860 for the program which will ultimately update zoning requirements throughout Kingston.

The aldermen were unanimous in their approval of salary increases for Kingston Housing Authority personnel, led by a thousand dollar raise for the director, Alexander Yoman to a yearly wage of $15,700, beginning in April.

Alderman Clifford Sinsabaugh (D-10th Ward) said the salary increases were well deserved and that the authority merited

"terrific credit for the job it has done."

The application to the State Office of Planning Assistance was approved with no comment from the aldermen. The city will be obligated to a maximum of $1,860 for the program which will ultimately update zoning requirements throughout Kingston.

Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo also announced a number of special committees of the Council including Charter Revision, City Hall, Arterial Highway and Reapportionment.

The Reapportionment Committee will be chaired by Peter Mancuso (D-12th Ward) and will include Donald Quick (D-Sixth Ward), John Finch (D-Fifth Ward), John Machione (R-Second Ward), and Brian Smith (R-Third Ward) as members.

The Arterial Highway Committee is chaired by Emilio Primo (D-Eighth Ward), who was chairman of that committee last year. Other members include John P. Heitzman (D-First Ward), Sinsabaugh, Smith and Edmond Roux (R-Ninth Ward).

The City Hall Committee will be chaired by Michael S. Perry (D-Seventh Ward) and will include Primo, Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow (D-Fourth Ward) and Titus Sims (R-13th Ward).

Gallo said that the charter revision committee, which includes every member of the Council, will meet Sunday at 8 p. m. in the city clerk's office.

Gallo said that the old charter would be divided into sections for various members of the Council to study. He said that the Council would work closely with Mayor Francis R. Koenig on charter revision. "Charter revision was a campaign promise by both Mayor Koenig and myself," Gallo said. "We intend to fulfill that promise."

Gallo said that the charter would be presented to the public in sections. (Charter revisions can only be approved by general referendum). "It may take several years to get a completely updated charter," Gallo said. "We are not going to act in haste on such a vital matter."

There was a lengthy discussion on the city's contract with the General Code Publishing Corporation. The company, at a cost of $14,000 contracted with the city about two years ago to compile all of the city's ordinances (including the charter) into a code book and update it as the Council passed new legislation. Alderman Sinsabaugh said that the company had not been living up to its contract in that it had not provided the supplements to the code book. His motion for an investigation of the matter by the city corporation counsel and a suit, if warranted, was unanimously passed by the Council.

Alderman Edward Norton (D-11th Ward) also requested the Council's Building and Supply Committee to investigate a situation he termed "a disgrace to the city" at the Rondout Recreation Center on lower Broadway. Norton claimed that children using the recreation center were unsupervised and that there had been numerous instances of broken windows. He called for either proper supervision by the recreation department or the placing of a police guard at the building.

There was also a lengthy discussion of the proposed Ulster Arterial with Alderman Sinsabaugh calling for a definite stand by the Council on whether or not the city wanted the highway. He said he plans an open meeting to get the sentiments of the residents of his ward. Alderman-at-Large Gallo recessed the meeting at the call of the chair.

Occupants Temporarily Homeless

Occupants of three apartments were made temporarily homeless Tuesday afternoon when flames swept through rooms on the second floor of the multiple-dwelling at 15 Abrynn Street. The alarm was sounded at 3:15 p. m. and six units in charge of Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Glyn Southard were dispatched. On arrival firemen found heavy smoke and fire coming from windows of the second floor apartment occupied by Uris Spencer. The blaze apparently had originated in a front room and fire quickly spread vertically to the ceiling and horizontally into four connecting rooms. The fire extended to the side and rear porches and up through the ceilings.

Winter Bounces Back With Double Punch

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON Winter returned with a vengeance overnight, plunging temperatures into freezing range, slicking highways and closing two schools in southern Ulster County.

High winds accompanied the weather switch whipping the inch of new snow across the ice left by Tuesday's rain and freezing rain.

In Kingston temperatures went down to an official overnight low of two above a dip of 41 degrees from the high of 43 recorded yesterday.

Highland Schools and St. Augustine Parochial School in Highland were closed due to icy road conditions. More extensive school closings were reported in the Capital District where the deadly combination of freezing rain and new snow made driving hazardous.

The switch back to winter after a weekend thaw and two days of rain had the advantage of lessening the flood threat. Streams stiffened in the freezing temperatures and runoff from melting snows was stilled. This morning snows swirled across the refrozen creeks in cauldron patterns of some wintry witches brew.

Even Florida felt the bite of the extensive cold wave which sent temperatures in citrus land plummeting to single digit readings. Elsewhere in the nation sub-zero temperatures cemented the new snowfall to Great Lakes states and dipped Georgia and Alabama into near zero shivers.

Just to make the winter revival more emphatic the forecast calls for windy, cold, snow and all those typical February things.

Today as anyone who ventured outdoors is very cold and temperatures expected to dip to minus 10. Thursday's word is for light snow and temperatures in the upper teens. Friday is expected to be cloudy, cold and sprinkled with flurries. And that pretty much kills the mid-winter thaw for the time being.

For Period Ending 7 a. m. EST Thursday Tonight, snow is expected to fall in the vicinity of the Great Lakes. Elsewhere, generally fair weather should prevail with skies ranging from clear to partly cloudy. Although quite chilly over the Eastern half of the nation, a slow warming will be noted from the Lakes to the Gulf coast. Minimum temperatures include: Atlanta 25, Boston 0, Chicago 9, Denver 20, Duluth -5, Ft. Fair, Uniform Draft System the Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has called for sweeping executive and legislative changes in the Selective Service system to make the draft fairer and more uniform.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called on the Nixon administration Tuesday to end occupational deferments immediately, student deferments in time of conflict, abolish state and local quotas, establish a uniform national policy and kick the military out of the Selective Service system.

"Of necessity," the subcommittee report said, "the military traditionally operates with less regard for individual rights and procedural niceties than we expect and require in civilian life."

The report suggested Congress consider the need for a selective conscientious objector status.

One committee witness proposed a draftee seeking such status should be "required to undergo noncombatant service of comparable risk to that undergone by draftee" and if this were not possible "to serve for a longer time."

The report said the lottery of last Dec. 1 which used birth dates to determine order of call-up did not actually achieve random selection.

"Instead," the report said, "birthdays from the end of the year were disproportionately near the top of the induction order."

The subcommittee concluded that "such disparity is extremely significant and must stem from the failure properly to mix the capsules containing the birthdates."

As a result, the report recommended that future random selection be achieved by use of computers.

The report said only hardship and high school deferments should be continued in time of conflict.

The report suggested the administration could restructure the system into a consolidated selective service system.

This would include a national headquarters to establish policy, eight regional offices to monitor uniform application and 300 to 500 area offices to "register and classify young men."

The subcommittee said the director and the staff of the system should be civilian, and the director should be limited to two terms of five years.

Included in the subcommittee's suggestion of a detailed appeal/registrant to have counsel and the recommendations was the procedures that would permit a call witnesses.

N. Y. Locals Vote No But GE Pact Upheld

The two large International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) locals in New York State voted against the contract with General Electric but the pact was approved Tuesday in national voting.

The national vote is binding and apparently signals the return of about 25,000 strikers in the state. Some local contract issues remain to be resolved but union leaders indicated they did not expect to prolong the strike.

Both IUE and United Electrical Workers UE had the contract approved nationally. Some smaller unions had yet to approve the pact.

IUE Local 301 at GE's oldest and largest plant in Schenectady, rejected the contract Tuesday in a voice and hand vote. A union official said the 10,500 members eligible to vote did not want a secret ballot and voted for rejection because of a general dissatisfaction with money provisions.

Joseph Mangino, 301 business agent, rejected the suggestion that the men were willing to stay out because of the approximately $60 per week in unemployment benefits that strikers were eligible for in New York State.

Earlier in the week, IUE Local 320 in Syracuse, with 5,000 members, rejected the contract. Local leaders said members wanted a union shop provision and a better cost-of-living increase.

UE Local 327 at Johnson City was the third union chapter in the Empire State to go against the national contract. With only 80 members, however, the vote Tuesday had little effect on national acceptance.

UE Local 322's 2,500 members at Hudson Falls-Glens Falls voted 7-2 in favor of the pact Tuesday. Elmira UE Local 310, with 45 members, also approved the contract.

John Stanley, IUE business agent in Syracuse, said his men would respect Teamster picket lines, set up Jan. 12.

Personal Income Hits All-Time County High; $438 Million in 1968

ALBANY — Greene County's personal income reached $98 million, an increase of $7 million over the previous year with per capita income at $3,003 as compared with $2,766.

The growth in personal income is a reasonably accurate barometer of the economy as a whole, Governor Rockefeller stated. "Personal income growth in New York State has been spectacular, directly paralleling the overall economic growth in our state."

The report indicated that every county in the state shared in the year-to-year gain, with increases ranging from 4.3 per cent to 11.8 per cent. Six counties had percentage gains of 11 per cent or more. These counties are Hamilton, Dutchess, Putnam, Warren, Suffolk and Rockland.

There were gains of 10.3 per cent in the Mid-Hudson area. The top ranking county in the state was Westchester, at $6,411 per capita. It was followed by Nassau $5,438, Monroe $4,553 and New York City in fourth place at $4,346.

Information on personal income was compiled by the State Commerce Department, utilizing latest available detailed data from the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Russell's Last Plea for Peace Outlived Him

PENRHYN, Wales (UPI)—Bertrand Russell's last plea for peace outlived him. He wrote it two days before he died and it was released one day after.

The statement was read to parliamentarians from five continents Tuesday in Cairo, imploring Israel to stop bombing Egypt and to improve its treatment of Arab refugees.

"The first step toward the settlement of the conflict in the Middle East should be the withdrawal of Israel from the territories it occupied in June, 1967," Russell's statement said.

The 97-year-old pacifist, author, mathematician and philosopher collapsed and died Monday night. Private nonreligious funeral services are planned for Thursday. His body will be cremated.

Tributes and condolences poured into his country home, more from the pacifists who tried to grasp the range of Russell's thought than from politicians and statesmen who disagreed with his peace philosophy.

"I am sorry to learn of the death of Lord Russell, whose distinguished contribution to 20th century thought is recognized throughout the world," wrote Queen Elizabeth.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Lord Russell "can justly be called the British Voltaire and, like Voltaire, his conversation was even more brilliant than his writing."

Bodies of Couple Are Found in Columbia Home

CLAVESACK, N.Y. (UPI)—The partially-decomposed bodies of Ambrose Rivers, 65, and his wife Madeline, 47, were found Tuesday at their Columbia County home in nearby Elizaville, near the Dutchess County line.

A spokesman for state police at Claverack said an investigation was continuing since an autopsy failed to positively determine exact cause of death. He said foul play was not apparent, but could not be ruled out.

Neighbors called police and said they had not seen the couple for 10 days. Troopers broke into the house and found the bodies on the living room floor near a bedroom door, the spokesman said.

More than 60 attended with the class oversubscribed. Classes are limited to about 40 members. John Heron was guest instructor for the first session which was open also to prospective members and guests. The course is for 14 weeks. Registering are (L-R) Roger Scott, Edward Reynolds, Kenneth Osterhoudt and Mrs. James Duncan. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Two Noted Singers Buy Stock In Rhinebeck Ankony Angus Firm

RHINEBECK — Two internationally famous singers are among 24 partners in the newly formed partnership controlling Ankony Angus Corporation of Rhinebeck.

The partnership papers, filed at the Dutchess County Clerk's office, named Janis Joplin and Robert Dylan as partners, effective December, 1969.

Both folk-rock singers have been frequent visitors at nearby Woodstock, and Bobby Dylan resided there for an extended period of time two years ago. Janis Joplin has been hailed as the only female superstar in the current folk-rock music world.

Each singer contributed $5,000 to the partnership in December and will add $5,000 every six months until a total of $50,000 each has been paid.

The Ankony Angus Corporation, famous for the breeding and raising of purebred Aberdeen Angus cattle, was a family owned corporation until last year.

The outfit has farms in Rhinebeck and Claverack, as well as in Colorado, and central offices are located on Route 9G in Rhinebeck. It was formerly owned by the Leachman family. Lee Leachman of Rhinebeck retains a partnership.

The company announced last spring that it was to become a subsidiary of Equity Holding Company, New York.

Paltz Seniors Now Number 180

NEW PALTZ — The ranks of the recently formed Senior Citizens of New Paltz has swelled to more than 180, according to a spokesman reporting on the organization's activities.

The group is scheduled to meet on Wednesday, Feb. 11 at 2 p.m. in the Community Room of the New Paltz Savings Bank, where a representative of the Internal Revenue Service will discuss "Tax Benefits for Older Americans and Retirement Income Credit."

Residents of the New Paltz area, 60 years of age or older, who are interested are invited by the group to attend the session on Feb. 11.

Transportation for those without their own means may be arranged, he said, by contacting members of the group's General Committee, James DeSantis, Frank Pelletieri, Joseph Torracca, Moire Walsh and Marie Richards.

Meanwhile, the New Paltz Central Schools announced this week that senior citizens in the organization may now attend school sponsored activities free of charge. The school's administrative staff ruled recently that seniors with identification cards may be admitted free to school events such as musical concerts, plays and athletic events.

In addition, the staff added that the New Paltz group may use some school facilities for their own events when the facilities are not being used by students.

Police Seeking Suspect In Liquor Store Holdup

By TIM SCHUSTER
RED HOOK — State police are searching for an unidentified man who held up A'Brial's Liquor Store here Tuesday in broad daylight.

Fire Wrecks Auto Firm

LIVINGSTON MANOR, N.Y. (UPI)—Fire early today wrecked the Schwartz Motor Sales complex in this Sullivan County community.

No one was injured.

State police gave a damage estimate of $160,000, noting that a number of new cars were in the structure.

Police received a telephone call at 1:45 p.m. that an armed robber had taken money from the cash register at this 11 Broadway liquor store at gunpoint.

Proprietor Louis Braig said, "I was behind the counter when the man came into the store and got a bottle of wine. He held the snout of a handgun under his shirt and asked me for all the money in the cash register."

Braig said he wasn't afraid at the time, but just handed over the money estimated at between $50 and $60. The robber motioned him to the rear of the store, out of sight of the street and told him to stay there until he had made his escape.

"I peeked around the corner a suspect."

Description of the robber given to the BCI at Rhinebeck station was: About five foot, nine, 180 pounds, middle aged with receding hairline, swarthy complexion, about three days growth of beard, wearing gray sweater and black slacks and possibly driving a light blue Ford. Roadblocks failed to trap a suspect.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 4, 1970

Census Will Be Snoopy

Throughout the country, 100,000 enumerators soon will be knocking on doors to get information for the 1970 census. Many of the questions which must be answered will be personal and some people will deem them as an invasion of privacy.

You will be asked the name, relation of household, age, sex, color or race, how many times you have been married, where you work, what kind of work you do and how much you earn. And there will be queries about any physical disability.

In the section dealing with the home, the government will want to know if you own or rent your living quarters, how much rent you pay, do you have complete bathroom facilities and whether these facilities must be used by other families. Homeowners will be asked to give the value of their property.

Enumerators will call on about 40 per cent of the population. The other 60 per cent will get their questionnaires by mail and will be expected to fill them out and mail them back.

To get detailed economic information, the bureau has designed a long form that will go to one in 20 households. It contains 89 questions, three times as many as the regular form. The long form will give a very broad sampling of the economy of the nation.

From the census, the government will know how to allocate members of the House of Representatives, the original basic purpose of the census. It also will get information on which social and economic programs can be built and how such laws such as those relating to draft, education and civil rights can be administered. Business will use the facts for locating stores and plants and planning for growth and expansion.

The penalty for refusal to cooperate is $100 fine or up to 60 days imprisonment. There's a greater penalty for willfully giving false answers. The census people have said to make it voluntary would result in too many failing to answer.

None of this vital information on specific individuals can be revealed to private or public agencies. It is made public only in statistical aggregates. So prepare to tell the census taker all. By law, it can never go beyond him or his associates.

In this district, which comprises the Counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Greene, Schoharie, Columbia and Putnam, approximately 630 census takers will do the job starting April 1.

Taxes to Vietnam Must Stop

Our Vietnam involvement is laced with paradoxes. Not the least of which is payment of $1 million a month taxes to the South Vietnamese while we shell out more than $2 billion a month in their defense not to mention our contribution in dead and wounded American boys.

On a personal basis this weird situation is analogous to having a sick friend ask you to go live with him during his illness and pay for his medical care. Then the friend asks you to pay rent. What would your reaction be?

Better late than never—the General Accounting Office after a 24-month audit has asked for a halt to this procedure. The reason given is simple and logical: Paying South Vietnamese taxes violates Congressional policy against payment of foreign taxes while the United States spends funds for mutual defense.

Unfortunately the GAO does not have the last word in the matter. There is only a strong recommendation, which the State Department has promised to "carefully review" at some future date. This looks like more of the same old business of kowtowing to the corrupt South Vietnamese politicians. The State Department is out of order in procrastinating and should correct the impropriety promptly. The long suffering taxpayer has more than enough to handle without paying tribute overseas.

Under the old Vestry Act of Maryland, the governor, by virtue of being chief of state, is the head of the Episcopal Church. Gov. Marvin Mandel, a Jew, may lay claim to the office, according to retired State Court of Appeals Judge William R. Hornby, a leader of the church. Mandel enjoys the church's ironic predicament but has no idea of using it.

The Association of Industrial Workers and Peasants of South Vietnam have severed their ties with President Thieu's political alliance. This removes the only powerful, nonmilitary force for nationalism in Vietnam. It had crossed all political, ethnic, religious, and regional lines in support of the President.

Students on campus nationally are disillusioned with the major political parties. They tend to veer to extremes, the radical Left or radical Right. Or, it may be that these extremists are the more vocal groups, and the "silent majority" still controls.

If you must go to sea, sign up with the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ships. A National Maritime Union contract with the line requires that steak be served once a week—sirloin, tenderloin, T-bone or rib, ¾ inch thick and not less than ¾ pound in weight. Ship ahoy!

"Of Course, It May Take a Little Time!"

David Lawrence Says Budget Indicates Real Meaning of Welfare State

WASHINGTON — There is more in the President's budget for many segments of the population than can be derived from the statement that it is a "tight" budget and that there will be a surplus for the coming fiscal year. Increases in taxation are proposed the impact of which on different groups is not generally realized. There are, for instance, "user charges" totaling 653 million dollars, as follows:

Highways — increased taxes on diesel fuel and graduated user charges — 259 million dollars.
Aviation services — increase in airline passenger ticket taxes from 5 per cent to 8 per cent — 245 million dollars; increase in taxes on general aviation gasoline from 2 cents to 9 cents per gallon — 34 million dollars; a new 9 per cent tax on general aviation jet fuel — 18 million dollars; a 5 per cent waybill tax on air freight — 44 million dollars; a three-dollar-per-passenger tax on international departures — 29 million dollars.
Other user charges — mainly TV and radio licenses — 24 million dollars.

Here are some proposed additional taxes:
Extension of present excise taxes on autos and communications to Dec. 31, 1971 — 600 million dollars.
Increase in Social Security wage base from 7,800 to 9,000 dollars on Jan. 1, 1971 — 200 million dollars.
Increase in railroad retirement taxes — 100 million dollars.
The total of the above proposed legislation would be about 1.6 billion dollars. Some of the legislation has already passed the house.

The largest reduction on the expenditures side is in national defense, which is going to drop by 5.8 billion in 1971 to a total of 37.6 billion — the lowest level since fiscal year 1967 and 7.6 billion below the war peak in 1969. Non-defense spending is estimated now for 1971 as 127.2 billion dollars, or a rise of 8.7 billion from 1970. This compares with the increase of 15.1 billion in the fiscal year 1970.

The space program will experience a reduction of almost 500 million dollars to its lowest level since fiscal 1963, when the total was 2.6 billion. Outlays for international affairs and finance at 3.6 billion dollars will be down by 524 million from 1970, and the lowest since the 3.4 billion in 1961.

With respect to subsidies to agriculture, including rural development, the estimate is that the cost will be 5.4 billion in 1971 — a drop of 979 million from 1970. Farm price supports are up 200 million, but the remainder of agricultural aids are scheduled to drop by 1.2 billion, primarily because of anticipated sales of government-held loans.

Commerce and transportation outlays are estimated at 8.8 billion, a drop of 651 million from 1970. Most of this decline will come from a reduction of the postal deficit through requested postal rate increases, including a rise to 7 cents for first-class mail and other changes effective April 1, 1970.

Looking over the other items in the President's budget, it will be found that education outlays are larger than the current fiscal year by 136 million dollars. Manpower activities are estimated to go up 457 million dollars. Health outlays are planned to rise by 1.7 billion from 1970. Of this, medicare is due to mount by 1.2 billion to a total of 8.8 billion, due to rising medical-care prices and the increased number of persons in the program. Medicaid, at 2.9 billion, is up 244 million mainly because of the same factors as affect medicare costs.

The whole income-security program is rising by 6.6 billion dollars to a total of 50.4 billion. Social Security, for instance, will be up 3.8 billion from 1970, due to the 15 per cent increase in benefits voted by Congress, effective Jan. 1, 1970. Public assistance benefits — apart from Medicaid — will cost 4.8 billion in 1971, a rise of 508 million from 1970. The proposed family-allowance program calls for 500 million dollars in 1971 as the plan gets underway, with the cost to go to 4.4 billion in its first full year of operation.

All these items in the budget usually are overlooked in the generalized way that the budget is treated in print. But every one of the items indicates how much spending the federal government is doing and what the welfare state really means today in America.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The columnist sat on the wrong side of the editor's desk rubbing his knuckles. The street winds had recombined his graying hair and his eyes watered. "Charlie," the boss said. "All it requires is that you get off your fat butt once in awhile and dig up some human interest stories."

Charlie nodded with resignation. The editor was a younger man and his eyeglasses shot bolts of fire from the ceiling light. "I can do it," Charlie said. "But where the hell do you find human interest stories these days? We have kids who are anti-people; parents who drink their dinner; and old people who are afraid to enunciate an opinion."

The editor reshuffled some wire copy. "The word comes from upstairs, Charlie. I tried to defend you, but you fill your space with facetious answers to letters from old ladies. Whatever happened to the Charlie Cadat of 20 years ago? My mother and father turned to the first page of the second section before they read the headlines."

"You were great, Charlie. Be great again." There was a smile and a forward wag of the editor's head. This was good-bye. The columnist nodded and left the office and went to the far corner of the city room where he had a desk and a wastebasket.

They were prodding him, but he didn't know that they were building a case to dump him. He was 52, and arthritis had shaken hands with him early. The constant pain cost Charlie his sense of humor. Nothing was funny anymore. When Alice became chronically ill, Charlie parlayed his newspaper prestige into a second mortgage on the house.

His wife, the doctors said, had a liver function problem. His wife had terminal cancer. The raven-haired ruddy-skinned beauty of long ago had straight uncombed mousey hair and saffron skin. Charlie kept reassuring her that she would be healthy and strong in a couple of months.

Junior was a problem. He was 25, the image of an Alice of long ago. He had good marks in college, but now he combed his hair forward, and kept blinking all day and flicking the ends out of his eyes. He smoked cigarettes with no writing on them and told his father that he was taking his time before finding a suitable position.

Charlie sat at his desk thinking. None of it was good. He remembered his father, Cayse Cadat, who had worked on the old Mail in New York and swore he solved the Becker murder single-handed in 1912. Come to think of it, his father was a legman all his life. He ran down news tips and courted the police sergeants for information.

The columnist ran a sheet of copy paper into his typewriter and wrote AT BAT with Charlie Cadat

End of play. There were no ideas, no stories in mind. The desk was a litter of letters and he could write a passable piece with these, but the boss said no. It was easy for those sons to sit in their ivory towers and tell him how to write and what to write, but none of it easy.

He thought of Red, his girlfriend behind the counter of a breakfast joint. Charlie had a pretty good thing going with Red, and you'd never guess watching the modest cast of hazel eyes that— Well, it was over. She said she had fallen in love with him, and that wrecked the kid wagon.

"You know I can't marry you," he had protested. "I have a wife." "Charlie," she said with infinite patience. "I can't wait any more. I'm hunking thirty — you know? My advice to you is to stick to your Alice. She's a sick woman. She needs you. You're kinda sick yourself, Charlie."

That ended his Wednesday night bowling. Now he had no place to go and nothing to do. He rapped out a column of old memories and carried it to the copy desk with a jaunty air. Five minutes later, he was bent forward in the cold street, walking home.

He let himself in the front door softly. Junior was sitting in Charlie's favorite leather chair, with a leg over the arm. He held his finger to his lips. "Mamma's asleep," he said. Charlie nodded and removed his overcoat and his muffer and hung them in the hall closet.

He rubbed his painful knuckles together. Junior blinked, rubbed his dark hair to the right, and smiled. "Surprised," he said. "I got a job, pop." The old man flopped on the settee.

"Yeah," the kid said. "I went down to the Tribune and got a job as a cub reporter." Charlie wondered if the quart of whiskey was still in the kitchen. He was going to get drunk tonight. He didn't know that this was precisely what his father had done 25 years ago.

Charlie wouldn't know a human interest story if he fell over one...

Jack Anderson Says Probe Underway Into Bankrupt Teamster-Financed Development

WASHINGTON — Federal crimebusters, who have been digging into Teamster loans around the country, began a Grand Jury probe in Los Angeles last week into a bankrupt, Teamster-financed development in fashionable Beverly Hills.

If they dig deeply enough, they may turn up a name they don't expect — that of Los Angeles' disingenuous but durable Mayor Sam Yorty.

More than $13 million of the Teamsters' pension money already has been sunk in a stretch of bulldozed countryside, where the world's ritziest country club and costliest golf course are supposed to be built. The project is situated among smog-shrouded foothills inhabited by movie stars and millionaires.

For awhile, singer Dean Martin agreed to be president of the club and to hold an annual $100,000 Dean Martin Golf Classic on the fancy fairway.

The developers, incorporated as Beverly Ridge Estates, literally moved mountains, plugged up canyons and transformed the countryside to create the golf course. A mechanized army of bulldozers, tractors and other heavy equipment pushed around more than 8.5 million cubic yards of earth, one third the amount that was moved in the construction of the Panama Canal.

$150,000 Politicians

All this took awesome sums of the truckers' retirement money. Not the least of the expenditures went to placate politicians, whose good will might be needed. This column has learned that more than $150,000 was contributed to councilmen, assemblymen and other officeholders.

Most of the payments were made to Roy Lewis, former Los Angeles city commissioner who funneled the money to the appropriate politicians. Other contributions were routed through So-Cal Engineers, Inc., a subsidiary of Beverly Ridge Estates, and were disguised as payments for "planning and rezoning consultation."

This column has traced at least one $1,000 check directly from the Beverly Hills Country Club, as the partially built golf emporium has already been named, to Mayor Yorty's campaign chest. The check, dated September 27, 1967, was made out to Yorty's deputy mayor, Eleanor Chambers, who endorsed it over to Citizens for Mayor Yorty.

Oddly, Yorty had no campaign in 1967. But his Citizens for Yorty organization, apparently never closes for business whether he is running for office or not.

This column has also examined expense vouchers, which prove that Beverly Ridge Estates lavishly entertained Yorty and his aides in 1967-68. Almost daily, lunch and dinner tabs were picked up for the Yorty crowd by Frank G. Lyon, a corporate vice president, who was also registered at city hall as Beverly Ridge Estates' lobbyist.

Lyon acknowledged to this column that he "spent a lot of time in city hall," that he often "visited" Yorty's office and that he took "various people out to lunch and out to dinner." Insiders say he virtually camped in Yorty's office.

A year ago, Lyon arranged a secret meeting between Yorty's chief assistant, Robert Goe, and Los Angeles teamsters' leader Frank Matula. The tryst was held in the rear corner booth of a gloomy bar at the Sheraton Wilshire Motor Inn, now renamed the Wilshire Hyatt House. Also present were Leonard Bursten, project manager of Beverly Ridge Estates, and lobbyist Lyon.

Unlike 1967, 1969 was a campaign year for Yorty, and Goe told of Yorty's need for Teamster support.

The embattled mayor, opposed by all other labor unions, was running far behind in the polls. In return for Teamster help, Goe promised that Yorty would support the Beverly Hills project and would otherwise demonstrate his gratitude.

Not long afterward, Lyon arranged for Goe to bring Yorty to the Teamster-sponsored City of Hope Charity Dinner, which was always well attended by labor leaders. The popular and powerful Matula took Yorty by the hand and introduced him to key labor leaders.

Teamsters and Yorty Matula also raised money for the Yorty campaign, including a contribution from the international union which he solicited at a Washington meeting of Teamsters trustees. He posted the Teamster yards for Yorty and arranged for telephone squads to contact union members in Yorty's behalf.

After the election, Beverly Ridge Estates coughed up another $2500 contribution for Yorty's insatiable campaign needs. Lyon acknowledged that this money was routed, in this case, through prominent Republicans who were raising money for Yorty's victory dinner. It is incidental that Yorty is a Democrat.

To express his gratitude to the Teamsters, the triumphant Mayor called upon Matula at his office and jubilantly proclaimed in the presence of Teamster staff people: "Frank is now the labor czar of Los Angeles!"

Yet incredibly, Justice Department sources have informed this column that Mayor Yorty last year urged the investigation of Beverly Ridge Estates. His Deputy Mayor, Eleanor Chambers, first put the request to Connie Crawford in the California Attorney General's Office. As a result, Attorney General Thomas Lynch reopened a dormant investigation of Beverly Ridge Estates. Later both Yorty and Lynch asked the Justice Department to send in federal investigators.

Yorty Double Cross?

This raises a question which the federal Grand Jury hasn't thought to ask: Why would Yorty double-cross his benefactors and seek an investigation of the people who had entertained him and contributed to his political survival?

There is evidence that the Teamsters helped to stir up trouble for their own project and used Yorty to stimulate the investigation. It looks as if the Teamsters, in this case, may be attempting to discredit the present developers in order to squeeze them out of the deal and turn the project over to insiders.

It wouldn't be the first time that the Teamsters had loaned pension money, foreclosed the loan after the project had been started and turned it over to cronies with inside connections.

In the case of Beverly Ridge Estates, at least, Mayor Sam Yorty appears to be a tool of the Teamsters.

This column will be happy to turn its evidence over to the Grand Jury if the federal strike force wants to get to the bottom of the case.

Nixon's New Foreign Policy Applies to Whole World

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is simply incredible that at least two major eastern newspapers, one of them enormously prestigious, only now are discovering that President Nixon's self-proclaimed new foreign policy doctrine applies not just to Asia but the whole world.

One newspaper, in editorial comment on the President's State of the Union address, said flatly that the doctrine, first enunciated at Guam last July 25, was on this Jan. 22 "expanded" to embrace "each part of the world."

Evidently, the gentlemen who are writing this stuff never read what Nixon said at Guam six months ago. I quote from him then: "I want to be sure that our policies in the future, all over the world, in Asia, Latin America, Africa and the rest, reduce American involvement."

That language is pretty plain, fitting even for editorialists and diplomatic correspondents, who have a tendency to be dazzled by their own gems of analysis.

Furthermore, the President made one or two other specific references to "other parts of the world" in his July 25 Guam utterances.

Since that date, any diligent inquiry within administration circles would have provided private confirmation that the President is indeed thinking of "lowering the U.S. profile" everywhere — and not least in Western Europe where we today have some 300,000 in armed forces on station under the NATO pact.

Nixon has scrupulously avoided any talk of cutting back on U.S. "commitments" abroad. In Asia, Europe or wherever. In a little-noticed Wisconsin speech, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird slipped once, and spoke of trimming commitments. His office quickly applied a corrective.

For, beyond doubt, that is scare talk to nations which still place heavy reliance upon either a substantial

U.S. presence or a strong American posture of assistance in maintaining their own security.

A thread of complete consistency runs through the President's statements on this issue, from Guam through State of the Union, in a State of the Union utterance which was a perfect echo of last July, he said: "We shall be faithful to our treaty commitments, but we shall reduce our involvement and our presence in other nations' affairs."

The July 25 signal that we are changing our world role is clearly seen, but it is not made so much of as to frighten anybody into thinking we are "cutting out."

It is probably not by chance that the President, in all his declarations about reducing involvements everywhere, never before has used the word "Europe" specifically.

Our military manpower involvement there (that 300,000) is the largest anywhere outside Vietnam.

Nixon, having sounded out European leaders in his 1969 winter visit, knows that any talk of truly massive manpower reductions by us would send the continent into shudders.

The inside word, nevertheless, is that we are going to undertake a sizable cutback in our European force levels, though most likely not before 1971. The intervening time is needed to prepare the NATO countries for the impending change.

If their leaders can read, they would have found some further signals in the State of the Union message: "Today the great industrial nations of Europe...have a new sense of pride and dignity, and a determination to assume the responsibility for their own defense."

"That is the basis of the doctrine I announced at - Gaum."

"The nations of each part of the world should assume the primary responsibility for their own well-being..."

New City Clerk-- Top Credentials

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Louis F. DeCicco, the new city clerk, comes highly recommended, where it counts.

"I don't think there's any question that Louie will do an outstanding job," said Mayor Francis R. Koenig, the man who appointed DeCicco.

DeCicco officially replaced Thomas R. Lyle on Feb. 1. DeCicco, lifelong resident of Kingston (294 Fourth Avenue), has been an insurance man for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for the past 11½ years.

Why the switch to city clerk? "Maybe the simplest explanation is because I was asked. I appreciate Frank's asking me to take the job. I was flattered. It came as somewhat of a surprise. I appreciate the fact that he had enough confidence in me to ask me."

DeCicco said he's "always had a yen" to be active in city government. Taking the job as city clerk "presented a challenge."

"I know he'll enjoy the work," Koenig said. "Of course, it takes while to adapt to the job. But Louie's the type who can meet the challenge."

Koenig and DeCicco have been personal friends "for about 10 years," according to the mayor. DeCicco was a Koenig campaign worker in 1963 when DeCicco graduated from Kingston High School and attended the New York State Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences in Utica where he studied business administration.

The new clerk reserved comment on any changes in the office that he might be planning. "I'm still learning," he said. "The duties of city clerk are complex and demanding. I just hope to do the best job I can for the next two years."

Koenig ran unsuccessfully for alderman-at-large and again in 1965 when Koenig was elected to that position. He was also active in Koenig's victorious campaign for mayor last year.

DeCicco is married to the former Lucille A. Pisano of Highland and the father of two children, Louis F. Jr., 12, and Celeste Ann, 10. He attends St. Mary's Church and is a member of that church's Holy Name Society and Benevolent Society. He has also been active in the National Little League and this year was elected president of the league.

Legislature Will Get a PR Resolution

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON Convinced that professional public relations advice and knowledge is necessary in order that Ulster County relate and communicate with the public as well as attract tourists, conventions and industry, County Legislator Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2) is calling for a detailed study of a proposed permanent

County Office Building, Elmendorf, who is a member of the Industrial Development and Publicity Committee, states that the scope of county government is with the public. He adds that such that various governmental departments and agencies find that they "must" communicate various avenues of communication should be established with the news media so that dissemination of all information relating to county government can be publicized in all distant geographical locations as well as locally.

He said he feels that professional knowledge is also necessary in any and all county publicity promotions for attracting tourists and conventions and especially because the projected growth of Ulster County in the next decade indicates that industrial expansion will also take place.

Other Proposals

Among other resolutions filed this week is one by S. Robert Kelder, chairman of the Youth and Guidance Committee who suggests that Charles Schultz, director of the Probation Department be authorized to attend a two-week course for law enforcement officials at the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drug School, Washington, D. C.

Kelder points out that there is a drug problem in the county and that no one in the Probation Department is trained in narcotics, its use or dangers. The course is given at no expense to the county.

County Legislators will also be asked to award a $3,675 contract for alterations to the Mental Health Center to G. H. Stewart Inc., of Kingston, low bidder. The building is located at 400 Broadway.

The resolution has been jointly sponsored by Chairman of the Legislature, Peter J. Savago, (R-Dist. 8) in behalf of the County Buildings Committee and Melvin Mones (R-City) in behalf of the Public Health Committee of which he is chairman.

Other resolutions to be presented include one seeking the acceptance of the bid for printing of the proceedings of 1969, submitted by Frank Muller (R-Dist. 10).

Permission also will be sought for conference attendance by the county auditor and purchasing agent, president of the Board of Health, executive secretary of the Civil Service Department and the planning director. Also, bond will be sought for the chairman of the Legislature, the acting superintendent of highways and the sealer of weights and measures.

Some Appointments

A request will be made to establish a petty cash fund for the Mental Health Department and authorization will be sought for the county's participation in Phase II of the Comprehensive Planning Assistance Program.

It is also expected that appointments will be made to the Planning Board and the Fish and Wildlife Management Board.

In addition resolutions will also be presented imploring the New York Department of Water Resources to alleviate the danger of possible flooding conditions in the Esopus Valley and another requesting the Industrial Development Committee to study desirability of establishing a County Industrial Development Agency.

Historical Group Plans

MARBLETOWN July 12, 1970 — 2:30 p.m. The Ulster County Historical Society program for 1970 has been completed. The six programs have been designed to acquaint the public with Ulster County organizations and to attempt to bring about greater cooperation between various groups, a spokesman said.

The headquarters of the Ulster County Historical Society is the Bevier House at Marletown, located on Route 209. The house is open to the public during the summer months. All programs will be held at the house and the officers extend a cordial invitation to join the Society. One method of finding out if you would like to be a member is to attend a meeting," he said.

The date of each meeting and the topics are as follows:
May 9, 1970 2:30 p.m. Bevier House — The Delaware and Hudson Canal. The meeting is under the leadership of Miss Grace Elliott. Members of the Canal Society will tell what has been done and what is planned for the future.

June 6, 1970 Box Supper, 5 p.m. Mrs. Ruth R. Glunt, author of a new book, "The Old Lighthouses of the Hudson River," will tell about her book. A representative of Friends of Historic Kingston will be present to explain what the purposes of their organization are and what is hoped for in the future.

Outstanding speakers at past dinners include Dr. Kenneth McFarland and Dr. Carl Winters, both of whom are on the same General Motors lecture team as this year's speaker. Men interested in attending the fete should contact the chairman or ticket director immediately.

Response Good For Dutch Men's Washington Fete

KINGSTON Tickets for the annual Washington Dinner sponsored by the Men's Club of Old Dutch Church are going well, according to announcement made today by Donald Burgher, ticket chairman.

Guest speaker at this year's event will be Dr. Frank A. Court of Denver, Colo. Dinner and program will be held starting 6:30 p.m. Feb. 24 at Bethany Hall.

Dr. Court, well known minister, writer and lecturer, will discuss "Our Response to Our American Heritage."

The Washington Dinner chairman is Clair S. Sheaffer with Neil Denny, president of the organization assisting with arrangements. Now in its 45th year, the Men's Club dinner is a perennial sell-out.

Nixon's HEW Compromise Not Enough for Dem Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has offered to sweeten the pot by $449 million in his fight with Congress over education funds, but it apparently won't be enough.

Democratic leaders are willing to risk another veto, if necessary, in their effort to force a reshuffling of national priorities that upgrades education.

"It may be necessary to pare it down," said House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma, "but we're not going to capitulate on the education bill."

Nixon's new proposal, sent to Congress Tuesday, makes official a compromise he put forward last week to help get the necessary votes to sustain his veto of a $19.7 billion education health money bill.

The $449 million Nixon is now willing to spend over his budget amounts to a 63 per cent cut in the $1.2 billion Congress added to the vetoed bill. Some of the key Democrats who helped add the original funds, say they will fight any cut that amounts to more than 10 per cent.

The battle is now being fought in a House appropriations subcommittee where little progress was reported Tuesday after another session. Members said there was only an outside chance that a bill would be ready for House action before Congress takes a week-long recess starting Feb. 10.

In a letter outlining his new proposal Nixon said the extra $449 million "does not contribute unduly to inflationary pressures which today are of serious concern to the entire nation." He vetoed the $1.2 billion increase because of its impact on inflation.

Nearly half the added funds—$238 million—would be for the impacted area aid program which Nixon has sharply criticized and for which he has declined to budget any money for next year unless it is drastically revised. His new proposal would increase the appropriation for this year to $440 million.

The program, which provides funds for school districts in which large numbers of children of federal employees are enrolled, has wide support in Congress. A total of $60 million was provided for in the vetoed bill.

Nixon would also boost spending for vocational education by $70 million to a new total of $300 million, still $52 million short of the amount in the bill. The other Nixon increases would be spread over a variety of health and education programs.

Whatever compromise the Appropriations Committee arrives at it is unlikely to satisfy the liberal Democrats who led the fight for the $1.2 billion last year.

Fire Destroys Building in Centerville Area

SHULTIS CORNERS

A small wooden frame outbuilding on the former Spica farm on Glasco Turnpike near Shultis Corners was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday night, Centerville Fire Department officials reported.

Chief Thomas Brennan said Centerville and Cedar Grove Fire Company volunteers responded at about 6:47 p.m. to the fire on the farm reportedly owned by Pan Copeland of Woodstock.

Chief Brennan said the building was occupied or how not be determined if the fire started.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened strong today in moderately active trading.

A statement by Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy that interest rates may begin to decline sooner than most people realize sent the market sharply higher Tuesday, and many analysts expected the momentum to carry over today. But they noted, too, that "positive proof" is needed that monetary restraint is loosening before stocks will be able to mount a sustained upswing.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a gain of 0.80 per cent on 305 issues crossing the tape. Of these, 172 advanced and 47 declined.

Walt Disney rose 1 1/4 to 14 1/4, while AMK Corp. picked up 1/4 to 27 1/4, and Marcor 1/4 to 53 1/4. Chas Pfizer gained 1/4 to 103, and Skyline rose a full point to 24 1/4.

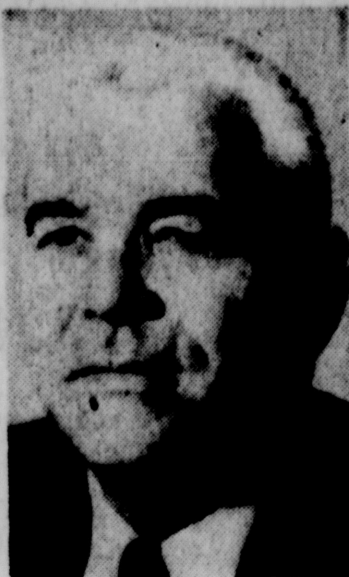

Among the electronics, Westinghouse climbed 1 1/4 to 59 1/4, and Texas Instruments 1/4 to 129. General Electric lost 1/4 to 72 1/4. Burroughs 1 1/4 to 152 1/4, and Motorola 1 to 133. Sperry Rand added 1 1/4 to 37 1/4, with National Cash Register down 2 to 140.

In the oil group, Atlantic Richfield sported a gain of 1 to 72 1/4. Occidental rose 1/4 to 22 on a block of 17,200 shares.

COLUMBIA HEAD — William J. McGill, 47-year-old chancellor of the University of California at San Diego, was appointed Monday as president of Columbia University. McGill succeeds Andrew W. Cordier. Cordier became university president last August and said at that time he would serve one year. He succeeded Grayson Kirk, who retired in August, 1968, following campus disorders in the spring of that year. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Fire Damages
Furniture in Pilgrim Truck

KINGSTON

A 40-foot trailer truck loaded with furniture was badly damaged by fire today in the yard at Pilgrim Furniture Co., Inc., 107 Greenkill Avenue.

Kingston Fire Department responded with four apparatus at about 9:30 a. m. and were cleaning up shortly before noon. A spokesman at the furniture company said most of the furniture was badly damaged. Firemen pulled the furniture from the truck. Deputy Chief Glyn Southard was in charge of the equipment at the scene.

Liquor Dealers Reelect Whalen; Meeting Slated

KINGSTON

Officers of the Ulster County Hoel and Restaurant Dealers Association elected for 1970 have taken office and will conduct an important meeting of the group scheduled for 3 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 10 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

At 2:30 p. m. Gene Whalen, who was reelected president for another term, will make a formal presentation of a check to the Ulster County Community Chest. The association, an officer noted, plans to make the presentation to the UCCC an annual event on behalf of the liquor and restaurant dealers.

Other officers for 1970 are elected along with Whalen for Max DelCotto, vice president, new terms. Patrick Donnelly, secretary, and William Oehler, treasurer, members will discuss important DelCotto and Oehler were re-legislation pending in Albany.

Housing Change Filed With Bell

KINGSTON

Clifford A. Henze, president of the Kingston Neighbors Housing Corporation, has announced that a bill for a change of State legislation has been submitted by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell. The bill would amend the Membership Corporation law of the State in relation to the purchase, sale, mortgage and lease of real property by the new housing corporation.

This legislation, when enacted, will expedite the purchase and sale of individual real properties without the delay and expense of normal court action that is required for nonprofit organizations, such as church groups.

Wedding Announcements Made to The Freeman

MRS. RAYMOND FRANKLIN PARKER JR.

MRS. VINCENT R. FISHER

Announcement was made today to The Freeman of the wedding of Miss Eleanor Crilley, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schreiber, 81 Schreiber's Lane, New Paltz, and Raymond Franklin Parker Jr. of Kingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Parker of Sutherland, Md.

The Rev. Joseph Hickey officiated at the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass at St. Joseph's Church in New Paltz. Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Kathy Kelly of Kingston, and Miss Eileen Reis of Kingston was soloist.

Given in marriage by her foster father, the bride wore a princess gown fashioned of Trapunto brocade. Lapin fur formed a wedding ring neckline and edged the long sleeves. The gown featured a built-in mantel Chapel train. A Camelot bonnet, crowned with Lapin fur, held her illusion veiling. The bride carried long-stemmed roses.

Miss Mary Crilley of Albany, was maid of honor for her sister. Attendants were Mrs. David Noteboom, Wallkill; Miss Virginia Gillette, Roxbury, Conn.; Miss Patricia Schreiber, Clintondale; and Miss Lynn Schreiber of Kingston. They were identically clad in floor length gowns of red velvet.

The Victorian style necklines and cuffs were accented with velvet ruffles and the natural waistlines were accented with red satin sashes. The girls carried white fur muffs decorated with Holly.

Serving as flower girl was Miss Carolyn Noteboom, Wallkill, niece of the bride; and ringbearer was Andrew Kelso, New Paltz.

Melvin Crilley, brother of the bride, Albany, served as best man. Ushers were David Noteboom of Wallkill; Peter Kleeman of Plattkill; Paul Schreiber, and Mark Schreiber both of New Paltz.

A reception was held at Dominick's Restaurant, New Paltz.

The bride is a staff nurse at Benedictine Hospital in Kingston, and the bridegroom is employed at IBM, Kingston. After a wedding trip to Ireland, the couple will be at home at 98 Elmendorf Street, Kingston.

ceremony. Mrs. Ruth Schmidt, Esopus, provided traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white pompons decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line Peau gown, enriched with reembodyered pearl studded lace. The gown featured a high neckline, bishop sleeves, and a chapel length train, also accented with lace. Pearled lace trimmed her Camelot cap which held her illusion veil and she carried a prayer book, covered with white roses.

Miss Sheila Kern, cousin of the bride, Clifton, N.J., served as maid of honor. She wore an emerald Romance Chiara crepe gown styled with a high collar and long puffed sleeves. The shirred skirt was encircled at the high waistline with two-tone braiding, tied at the back, terminating into long streamers. A cap, trimmed with braiding, and a circlet veil served as her headpiece and she carried green and white carnations with green streamers.

Attendants were the Misses Karen Grosso, Connelly; Donna Dugan and Joanne Schupp, both of Kingston. Miss Robin Lamoreux of Lake Katrine, served as junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore salmon gowns, styled identically to that of the honor attendant's and carried nosegays of orange and white carnations with orange streamers.

Miss Allison Roach, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an emerald green gown, fashioned similarly to those of the other attendants and carried a white princess basket filled with green and white carnations and green ribbon.

Thomas Kiernan, South Road, High Falls Park, High Falls, was best man. Ushers were Mike McGowan, James Williams, William Dugan, cousin of the bridegroom, all of Kingston; and Tim Lanigan, brother of the bride, Ulster Park, Mike Cragan, Walden, was ringbearer.

A reception for 110 guests was held at Elmer's Inn, Ruby.

For her wedding trip to upstate New York, the bride wore a lavender knit dress with brown accessories and a white rose corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is attending Dutchess Community College.

Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and State University of New York at New Paltz. He is employed by Rondout Valley Middle School where he is teaching special education.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will reside at RD 1, Box 281, High Falls.

Mathe-Campbell Nuptials Told

Miss Doreen Mathe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mathe, New Hyde Park, L.I., became the bride of Robert Daniel Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Campbell, Saugerties, on Saturday, Dec. 27 at Holy Spirit Church, New Hyde Park, L.I.

The Rev. Charles Nasser celebrated the nuptial Mass and officiated at the ceremony. The bride wore an Empire gown of white ribboned rayon, accented with ivory appliques. The gown featured a bodice of silk lace. Her shoulder length mantilla was held by a Spanish cap.

Miss Donna Mathe served as maid of honor for her sister. She wore a royal purple velvet gown, styled with a scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves. The Empire waist and wrists were trimmed with silk floral braid of orchid and pale green leaves. She wore a stylized headpiece in matching colors and carried orchids.

The bride's attendants were college friends and were dressed identically to that of the honor attendant. Miss Gail Campbell, sister of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. She wore a gown of orchid, trimmed with royal purple and carried a basket of mixed matching flowers. A purple band with orchid flowers served as her headpiece.

David G. Campbell was best man for his brother, Kerry Campbell, brother of the bridegroom, and college friends of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

A reception was held in the New Hyde Park Inn.

Paula Robinson Is Apple Pie Winner

Miss Paula Robinson, 15, of Ulster County's Little Women and Little Men 4-H Club was selected winner in the New York State Horticultural Show's apple pie contest held Wednesday, Jan. 28 in the Kingston Armory.

Contestants from nine counties participated. A requirement of the contest was to have an unbaked apple pie completed from "scratch" in less than one-half hour. The technique, posture, and finished product were important factors in the judging.

Paula is a sophomore in Kingston High School and has been a member of 4-H for seven years.

Other 4-H members who participated in the show include Miss Mindy Kotler, 13, who demonstrated "Les Muffins aux Pommes," and Jeffery Robinson, 13, demonstrating his technique for "Apple Muffins." Both entries are members of Little Women and Little Men 4-H Club.

Members from 11 different counties demonstrated their skills in preparing foods made mainly with apples.

In the afternoon, the Horticultural Society held a luncheon at Holiday Inn, Kingston, for all participating 4-Hers and their parents. At the conclusion of the luncheon, it was announced that Ulster County had been selected winner of the apple pie contest which had been the highlight of the day.

Upon leaving the luncheon, all 4-H members were presented with an apple bank and an "Apple Kitchen Cook Book."

Experimental Plays in Rehearsal

"Gem of the Ocean," and "Pickpocket," two one act plays by Woodstocker, Ron Radice, will be Performing Arts of Woodstock's latest sally into Experimental Theater. Directed by Steve Callahan, of "Adam Plus One" fame, the plays will be seen in early March.

In rehearsal for "Gem of the Ocean" are: Pearl Blackman, Gerry Griffin, and Mark Weinbert. Rehearsing for "Pickpocket," a two character play, are: Rick Richards, and Ed Kramer.

"Gem" and "Pickpocket" were first discovered last fall, at a meeting of PAW's monthly playreading group. It was a well attended evening, and the consensus of an enthusiastic audience was, "let's do it!"

Sets will be by Howard Day; costumes by Elaine Vincent; lighting by Jimmie Gibson; technical director, Howard Day; stage manager, Allison Crockett; production manager, Barbara Goldstone; photography, Eric Van Cort.

The theater and the dates will be announced shortly.

LARGE PLASTIC SHEETS

A large sheet of plastic is a handy tool when laundering knits and other stretchables which need to be dried flat. Just spread the plastic over a bed or floor to serve as a waterproof surface for drying large pieces. It's a good travel trick to carry a sheet of plastic which adds negligible bulk and weight to luggage.

West Hurley Fire Auxiliary to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Ladies Auxiliary of West Hurley Fire Company will be held Monday, Feb. 9 at 8 o'clock at the West Hurley Firehouse. New members are needed and will be welcomed.

The Spillway Auxiliary has invited the Glenford and West Hurley Auxiliaries to meet with them at the Spillway Engine Company Firehouse on Wednesday, Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. to discuss new uniforms for the three auxiliaries.

From "Moonlight (ing) in Vermont" to "An Enchanted Evening" at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston, New York, Howard Rust and his orchestra will spotlight the moods and the mods at the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary Ball, on Saturday evening.

As orchestra leader and leading vocalist with a band entitled "The Spice of Life," that's just what it will be, music as the name implies; (variety), from "Raindrops Falling on My Head," back "To Each His Own," and back to Viennese Waltzes, with a bit of the Caribbean Bosa Nova, and even the good old fox trot.

This inspiring young musician is a product of Rockland County where he attended schools, but also matriculated in Europe and toured extensively, as his parents were professional entertainers. His mother is a professional Swiss Yodler. Mr. Rust is a graduate of New Paltz College, and a Social Studies teacher at Myron J. Michael Jr. High School in Kingston.

A favorite of the Wiltwyck Country Club social set, he has appeared at all the social events held there for the past two seasons, plus appearances at Williams Lake Hotel, The Hedges, Ahavath Israel Ball, Sawyerkill Country Club, and hotels in New York, Philadelphia and the Catskill Mountain resort area. In addition, as a change of pace, he entertained on the night cruises of Manhattan on the Circle Lines.

An enthusiastic skier, he plays for "bed, board and slopes" almost every weekend at the Bavarian Inn near Okemo Mountain in Vermont. He is married and the father of two sons, Stephen 15 and Mark 13, who are both following in their father's footsteps, they are members of a rock group called "The New London Blues." Mark is the lead vocalist, and the group is a favorite of school and youth events.

Members of Mr. Rust's orchestra will include Don Cook on tenor sax, clarinet, tambourine and amazing pit-band accessories; Skip Pawlus joined the group last year after leaving a touring show-band. A secret special guest appearance will include "A man with a golden horn."

In addition to the punch party preceding the Ball, during intermissions Mr. Rust will feature sing-alongs, including Broadway show tunes, German beer-drinking songs and those good old "tear-jerking" ballads.

A cordial invitation to attend this gala is extended to those in the community, who can anticipate a fun-filled, swinging evening, and know too that they will be helping the Auxiliary to continue its many fine services for the Kingston Hospital.

Invitations may be obtained from any member of the committee, or by previous arrangements made at the hotel, for that evening.

UCCC Survives Big Orange Scare, 73-69

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
Ulster County Community College's Senators got the scare of their collective lives Tuesday night at the municipal auditorium, as they had to come from behind for a 73-69 win over visiting Orange County Community of Middletown.

The win was No. 24 in a row at home for UCCC which now has a seasonal mark of 15-2 (6-0 in the Mid-Hudson Conference) with nine regularly scheduled to win this one," said Ulster Coach Mike Perry. "Considering the poor performances we got from just about everybody. The boy who saved us with his play was Ed Torrioni. If he hadn't done a good job, the string would have ended right there."

Playing their first game without the services of Gary Kirkwood, star center for the Senators, who is ineligible for the remainder of the season, UCCC appeared a bit shaky and disorganized as play for the most part in the first half was sloppy on both sides.

Moss Fouls

Jerry Moss picked up four personal fouls early in the game and sat out for 10 minutes of the first half and 17 minutes of the second period. Glenn Berry and Tony Pough, who didn't start, for the first time this season, also had three fouls apiece.

Without the services of Moss and Kirkwood, Ulster found itself trailing the visitors, 60-54, with 5:30 left in the tilt. And then, all of a sudden it was there. Moss replaced Larry Trippodo and he, Torrioni and Pough combined to set up the win for the home side.

Torrioni Stars

Torrioni, who held the fort until Moss was put back in the game, drove down the baseline, taking his man one-on-one. He turned and hit a short jumper to make the score, 60-56. Jim Kohut hit one for the visitors making it 62-56. However, Ulster, working their press to perfection with Moss in the lineup, got baskets from Linnell Marshall, Pough and Moss, tying the score 62-all with 2:30 left to play.

Berry put the Senators ahead, 66-62, on a foul shot and a technical. Orange was also awarded a technical on the same play and Jan Quimby converted it, making the score 66-63. Moss then pumped in five straight points on a foul shot and two field goals and Pough added the clincher just before the buzzer.

Although the winners jumped off to a 13-4 lead in the first five minutes of play, most of the court-side observers sensed that something wasn't right as Ulster continually took bad shots, fouled to excess and threw the ball away time and again.

With Kohut, Quimby and Frank Folkowitz hitting a good percentage, Orange caught up and trailed by just three points at the half, 33-30.

The second half started off much as the first one ended, with Orange setting up on offense and hitting the free man against Ulster's 1-3-1 defense. This style of play continued for most of the game until the "Five O'Clock Lighting" struck.

Al Able and Tom Mansell combined for 40 points, 24 of them coming in the second half, to down visiting Highland, 76-61. Tuesday night in non-league cage action. Ellenville is now 6-6 on the season; Highland, 7-5.

The Monroe brothers, Ron and Perry, along with Hardy Marx, held the home side in check for the first half as the teams took a 31-31 tie to the locker rooms at halftime.

However, the second half belonged to Able and Mansell as they hit time and again with their team pulling away from the visitors. Mansell did most of the damage in the third period, when he tallied 10 of his total. Able had six in the third quarter and managed two more in the last stanza. Mansell hit for six in the final period.

Ron Monroe was high man for the losers with 18, while Perry and Marx added 10 apiece. Ed Younger tossed in 14 markers and teammate Geoff Walsh hit 13 for Ellenville.

Coleman Trounces New Paltz, 81-57

KINGSTON
Bill Curran came off the bench in the second quarter and pulled down 13 rebounds, scoring eight points to pace John A. Coleman High to an 81-57 win over the visiting cagers of New Paltz Tuesday night. The Statesmen now own a seasonal record of 10-4 and are looking for an invitation to a post-season tournament.

The winners play host to St. Patrick's of Catskill next Tuesday night.

Although Curran did a fantastic job, the Statesmen were never in trouble as they jumped to an early 18-8 lead in the first quarter. The visitors started to come back in the second period, but never had a chance as Coleman went to the fast break with Curran and Pat Harder pitching out on the fast break. The winners tallied 22 points in the third quarter and added 24 more in the final stanza as both coaches, Coleman's Bill DuBois and Frank Davis, cleared their benches.

BILL CURRAN

Craig Renn added 12 rebounds to Curran's game-high total, while Harder pulled down 10 caroms. Chris Schess, crafty floor general for the winners, handed out 11 assists and played outstanding defense.

Harder hit for 22 points, while Bob Bouchard and Don Hastings added 12 each.

New Paltz, playing without the services of the injured Ray Zappone, got tremendous efforts out of Brad Hart, Dan O'Byrne and Ed Grainger, but could not overcome the early lead of the Statesmen. Hart hit 15, O'Byrne had 14 and Grainger added 10 for the visitors.

Coleman's JBs made their record 8-4 with a 42-30 victory over the visitors. Mark Weber had 11 points for the winners.

ELLENVILLE
Ellenville High School's grapplers ran their season's record to 7-3 last night with a 27-21 win over visiting Onteora. The Indians now own a 2-6 mark on the season. Both teams appeared to be evenly matched as they traded victories. However, the Ellies were able to run up a large point-margin in the middle-weight classes.

Kevin Deput started things off for the winners with a pin of John Schnack in 59 seconds of the opening contest. The Indians came right back in the 110-pound class as Britt St. John decisively won Jeter, 11-9 and Bob Willie, also of Onteora, pinned Ira Hill in 5:24.

It was after Willie's win that the winners did an about face, taking the next five of seven, with Roger Duke and Larry Miller managing wins for the Indians. Bob Joseph, Dave Ballantine, Pat Lamestra, Pete Berger and Bob Sahler registered wins for Ellenville. Cornelius Knapp, Ellenville, pinned Rich Johnson in the 188-pound class in 1:09. Onteora's Pete Johnson came right back with a 3:20 pin of Bruce Myers in the heavyweight division, but the damage had already been done.

Maroon Game Slated Tonight

KINGSTON
Kingston High School's basketball team will play host to Monticello tonight at the Kate Walton Field House in a DUSO League battle. The game was to have been played last night, but was canceled at the request of the visitors, due to hazardous road conditions in the Monticello area. The JV's will get under way at 6:30 p.m.

Onteora was to have played host to Red Hook last night, but that game was canceled and may be played tonight. Joe Friedel was trying to line up officials at press time.

Roof Caved in On St. John's

By United Press International

St. John's had control over everything but the weather Tuesday night at Kingston, R.I. The Redmen were leading the University of Rhode Island 55-40 early in the second half when suddenly torrents of water came gushing through a hole in the roof of the Rams' field house and caused the referees to stop play. Heavy rains and gusty winds had buckled a skylight on the roof of the gymnasium and without warning, the players, the fans and the court were soaked in a matter of seconds.

While the officials and coaches were debating whether to continue, many of the 4,000 spectators, some with their umbrellas popped open, sang out such appropriate songs as "Row, Row, Row Your Boat," and "Singing in the Rain."

Play eventually continued but when several of the players slipped on the wet floor, the game was called with 13:16 remaining. They waited another 45 minutes but the rain wouldn't go away. The game was finally postponed and will be resumed Wednesday afternoon.

Fourth-ranked St. Bonaventure, led by 6-10 center Bob Lanier's 28 points, demolished Belmont Abbey, 131-64, as the Bonnies set a school scoring mark. Lanier also pulled down 19 rebounds.

Charley Scott compensated for the loss of injured starters,

Bill Chamberlain and Lee Dedmon, by puring in 30 points to lead No. 6 rated North Carolina to a 87-72 victory over Virginia.

Iowa took over the Big Ten lead by defeating Minnesota, 90-77, while ninth-ranked Illinois lost to Wisconsin, 66-65, on Albert Henry's layup with two seconds left to play.

Iowa, raising their conference record to 5-0, was led by John Johnson with 33 points. Illinois, 5-1 in Big Ten play, led 41-34 at halftime but couldn't hold back the determined Badgers. Clarence Sherrod of Wisconsin led all scorers with 21 points. It was the first defeat for Illinois on their home court in 18 games.

Purdue, the defending Big Ten champions, bombed Michigan State, 105-86, as Rick Mount scored 41 points. The Boilermakers now have a 4-2 record in league play.

Davidson, rated No. 16, raced to their 53rd consecutive home court victory as the Wildcats edged William and Mary, 93-87. Jerry Kroll led the winners with 24 points.

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal judge listened to arguments from both sides Tuesday, then announced he would withhold an immediate decision on the attack on the reserve clause of professional baseball brought by outfielder Curt Flood.

Flood, 32, who played for the St. Louis Cardinals for the past 12 years, had objected to the trade to the Philadelphia Phillies during the off-season. His suit challenges baseball's rule that binds a player to the team he originally signs with or to any team to which he is sold or traded.

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, who represented Flood in arguments before U.S. District Judge Irving Ben Cooper, said Flood is willing to play for St. Louis with or without a contract, until the court makes a decision in the case.

This was to counter an offer by Mark Hughes, attorney for the Philadelphia club, who had said Flood could appear for practice with the Phillies and play games without prejudicing his law suit.

Judge Cooper thanked both sides for the clarity in which they presented the legal aspects of the case. He concluded: "You have thrown the ball to me, and I hope I don't fluff it."

Goldberg said Flood is not asking for damages, but wants an injunction restraining the use of the reserve clause in trading him to the Phillies.

"Flood does not want to be thrown into servitude," the justice said. Goldberg added that the player wants to stay in St. Louis, where he lives and has a business.

Goldberg also told the court Flood is not asking for retroactive results but only for a modified reserve clause to govern future dealings between clubs and players.

Goldberg said four fundamental issues are involved. The clause, he said, violates U.S. antitrust laws, the 13th amendment of the Constitution, state anti-trust laws, and state common laws wherever baseball is played.

Football, boxing and the theater all have come under the federal anti-trust laws, "and they seem to be doing all right," Goldberg said. He also brought to the attention of the court that when the reserve clauses for the Great Britain Soccer League was lifted "they didn't seem to suffer any harm."

Hughes asked the court Tuesday to deny the temporary injunction because, he said, Flood failed to make a showing that he would be irreparably damaged. If a temporary saving order were granted, Hughes said, it "would be almost catastrophic to the defendants." Hughes denied Flood was being treated as a slave or peon, or as chattel to be traded, pointing out that last year Flood was paid $90,000 for playing baseball and that he is being offered the same salary at Philadelphia.

Hughes pointed out the reserve clause has been in effect almost since the beginning of professional baseball and he argued the clause is necessary to preserve the integrity of the game.

The lawyer added that an injunction at this time would upset the status quo—something that is not done without the showing of probable cause.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A nine-game winning streak is old stuff to the New York Knicks, but to the Los Angeles Lakers, it means a fresh breath of first place.

The Lakers made it nine in a row Tuesday night when they rode the leading shooting of Jerry West to a 124-114 victory over the Cincinnati Royals in Cleveland. The string has raised them into first place by a half game over Atlanta in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Charles R. Bielinski Wins Army Air Medal

Army Captain Charles R. Bielinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bielinski of 4 Park Circle, Mt. Marion, has been awarded the Air Medal with "V" Device for heroism in Vietnam on Nov. 16, 1969.

The captain, a 1965 graduate of Saugerties High School, is married to the former Cheryl Kellogg who now lives in Oneonta.

The citation accompanying the award reads as follows: "For heroism while participating in aerial flight in the Republic of Vietnam, Captain Bielinski distinguished himself by heroism in action on 16 November 1969, while serving as pilot during a reconnaissance mission near Bu Dop, Republic of Vietnam. As his gunship became exposed to two enemy machineguns, he directed suppressive fire against them while directing other helicopter gunships and artillery on to the area. Through his efforts, both enemy machine guns were destroyed. His display of personal bravery and devotion to duty is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service, and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army."

Chief Jensen Cited by Navy

Navy Chief Damage Controlman Walter Jensen, a native of Kingston, was recently awarded the Navy Achievement Medal.

Chief Jensen was cited for superior performance of duties in the First Naval District in Boston, Mass. during the period from Sept. 11, 1968 to May 31, 1969.

The citation accompanying the award reads in part: "Consistently performing his duties with marked professional skill and resourcefulness, Chief Petty Officer Jensen made significant contributions to the morale and mobilization posture of the Naval Reserve units. His exceptional ability as an instructor and his knowledge of damage control contributed to the readiness of reserve ships and crews assigned to the First Naval District. Chief Petty Officer Jensen was greatly instrumental in improving damage control training at the numerous training centers located in the First Naval District at no additional cost to the U.S. Navy. On his own initiative, he personally salvaged thousands of dollars worth of damage-control equipment and supplies from salvage yards, dumps and decommissioned ships and effected their distribution to training centers in need of these items. Project STEP... A Job Placing Service

By NANCY SULLIVAN

KINGSTON — "No dough, no gig, no future... Be cool — Stay in school." This is the slogan of the President's Council on Youth Opportunity found on a poster in the office of Project STEP.

STEP (Stimulating Training and Employment Program) does not however just limit itself to the youth in Kingston. It is a service operating under the guidance of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for individuals of any age. Its purpose is "to establish a permanent link between the disadvantaged and business communities to maintain a successful job placement program."

The basic idea in the formation of STEP began about two years ago. It eventually came about as a result of the Area Manpower Development Committee. William A. Schenck was the first Project Coordinator and he operated STEP from November, 1968 to Nov. 1969. Schenck had at that time been employed with IBM as a placement counselor. He was granted a leave of absence from IBM.

Project STEP operates in a two-fold manner. Originally STEP contacted employers in the Kingston area "to inform them as to the nature of Project STEP" and presently keeps in contact with local employers "to ascertain their employee needs," according to William O'Reilly, present coordinator of the program.

Secondly, STEP receives requests from people coming to the office asking for assistance in employment. As STEP receives these requests, they once again contact the various employers in the area and try to place the individual applicant in jobs "for which they are best suited."

The majority of individuals who seek assistance through the efforts of STEP have had very little education. Some have not completed grade school and many are high school dropouts. STEP offers a basic educational program which leads to a high school equivalency diploma. Andrew Garuccio, a teacher in the local school system, is employed by the program as an instructor and his salary is paid from STEP funds.

Presently, there are four out of the required six candidates to begin a training session in elementary math and English. Initially the program was conducted two nights a week for two hours per session. But because of a high degree of training and on completion they will be able to acquire good jobs as trained auto mechanics. Although the placement of individuals in "meaningful employment" is the ultimate goal of STEP, the program's job does not end there. After a candidate is employed, a form is sent from the STEP office once a month to the employer to determine whether the employer is satisfied. This process goes on for one year.

According to O'Reilly, ap-

Project STEP receives no state aid. The money to operate the program is received from industrial organizations and local industry.

O'Reilly said of STEP that there has been "a very good reception from employers of all kinds individual plants, retail organizations, hospitals and institutions." With this cooperation, STEP will be able to continue to serve the unemployed and the under-employed in the area.

The Project STEP office is located at the New York State Employment Headquarters on Pine Grove Avenue. The New York State Employment Service donated this office space to the program.

Registration Now Being Held

KINGSTON — Voters may register now to be eligible to vote in November.

Central registration is presently being conducted at the office of the Ulster County Board of Elections in the County Office Building, according to Mrs. Valerie L. Q. Sheeley, deputy election commissioner.

Permanent personal registration is permanent only as long as voters continue to reside at the address from which they registered and as long as they voted at a general election at last once in a two-year period.

Therefore, Mrs. Sheeley said, if any voter has changed his address since last registration or if a voter has not voted in a November election since 1968, he must re-register this year to be eligible to vote.

The election office is open for the purpose of registration every weekday during regular business hours and will continue until 30 days prior to local registration except within 10 days before and 10 days after the Primary Election.

Local registration will be held in the Fall within each town and the City of Kingston. Details pertaining to local registration are not available at this time but will be announced.

Mrs. Sheeley said that each year a number of voters are not permitted to vote because they are not registered properly.

Anyone having any question regarding their registration or enrollment status should inquire immediately and not wait until it is too late due to the fact that New York State Election Law has many deadline dates pertaining to when persons may register or correct errors, she said.

Kingston Vols Elect Kimbark President

KINGSTON — Orvel Kimbark, Wiltwyck Hose Co., was elected president of the Kingston Volunteer Firemen's Association at a recent meeting held at Wiltwyck Hose Co. firehouse.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Robert Hinkley, Rapid Hose Co., first vice president; Charles Reis, A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Co., second vice president; John Dittus Jr., Rapid Hose Co., secretary, and Augustus Lovy, Cordts Hose Co., treasurer.

Directors elected were John Jameson, Exempts; Thomas Sottile, Cordts; James Sheeley, Rapids; Miller Locke, Wicks; and Edward Bruck, Rescue Hook and Ladder. Charles Reis and Miller Locke were also appointed delegates to the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Retiring president Donald Matthews of Union Hose Co., was recently appointed to the Board of Fire Commissioners by Mayor Francis Koenig.

Delegates at the Kingston Volunteer Firemen's Association represent the volunteer fire companies and the Kingston Exempt Firemen's Association of the city of Kingston and act as a coordinating group to handle the problems of the volunteer firemen in the city. At this meeting the firemen also voted to continue their support of a team in the Babe Ruth League for the 1970 season.

Priestly Celibacy... Discussion Likely

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Holland's Roman Catholic bishops interpreted Pope Paul's latest pronouncement on priestly celibacy as an offer to discuss the issue and expressed their appreciation for it Tuesday night.

The eight bishops said they hoped that such consultations would lead to good results.

A brief communique said the Dutch bishops will consider publishing a more detailed comment on the Pope's letter to the Vatican Secretary of State Jean Cardinal Villot. The Vatican disclosed the contents of the letter Tuesday.

Some Dutch experts said one section indicated for the first time that Pope Paul VI was trying to avoid a deadlock on the celibacy issue without altering his basic stand. They referred to the Pope's statement that he was willing to consider requests that married men of a "mature age"—or an "advanced age," as the Italian translation of the French text put it—be ordained in areas where there is "an extreme shortage of priests."

Observers at the Vatican, however, considered there was little prospect of Pope Paul approving many such ordinations. They cited his qualifying comment that "we cannot hide the fact that such an eventuality would raise grave reserve on our part."

Pope Paul called on the Dutch bishops to withdraw the support they gave last month to a recommendation by the Dutch Pastoral Council of priests and laymen for an end to mandatory priestly celibacy. But liberal Dutch Catholics were heartened by the Pope's call for "attentive examination by our brothers in the episcopate, in union with us," of the proposal to ordain married men in areas where there is an acute shortage of priests.

The Dutch Church has lost 400 priests in the last four years, and ordinations have dropped from a high of 421 in 1957 to 145 last year. Mandatory celibacy for priests is considered one of the chief reasons.

Religious experts in Amsterdam said further efforts to secure a change in the celibacy rule will depend on the support the Dutch bishops receive from their foreign colleagues.

Jaycees Announce Plans for July 4

A sure harbinger of an early spring is the Saugerties Jaycees' announcement that the young men's organization is working on arrangements for this year's July 4th celebration in Saugerties.

Jaycee President Robert Martin said the public is cordially invited to participate in the celebration, the annual parade and special field day events.

Parade Chairman Robert Figgs has been contracting musical marching units and other possible participants in the parade. Further information about participation is available by calling Figgs at his home at Windmere.

Field Day Chairman R. Harwood is assembling what has been described as a "tremendous show." Harwood may also be reached at home for further information.

Other areas of responsibility announced by Martin include Egon Lippert, general chairman; Arthur Craft, concessions; William Brogan, finance; Peter Gabriele, fireworks; Richard Agunno, electronics; George Pardonner, director and Roy Cochran, publicity.

Loyalty Day Benefit Dinner Set Saturday

A complete roast ham dinner with homemade sauerkraut will be served to the public Saturday at 5, 6 and 7 p.m. at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street.

Saugerties Limited tickets may be purchased at the door.

To insure the seating desired, advance tickets are available at Bosco's barber shop or reservations may be made by contacting the VFW Auxiliary president, Mrs. Alice Benson, or the

LWV Is Commended For Survey of Schools

"The survey of the local school system being conducted by the Saugerties League of Women Voters reflects a deep interest in education," says School Superintendent Dr. Dexter O. Arnold.

He noted that recent discussions with Mrs. Charles Steele, Mrs. Michael Schovel, Mrs. Howard Leach, Mrs. Albert Allen, Mrs. Richard Cyr, and Mrs. Terrence Martin had totaled over 18 hours of conference time. In addition to the superintendent, Board President Robert Herb, business manager Gerald Snyder, administrative assistant David Cunningham, director of pupil personnel Miss May Evans, and David Hildebrandt, supervisor of building and grounds, have participated in explaining school organization and procedure.

"The amount of time and effort these ladies are contributing to the study," Dr. Arnold stated, "is tremendous. They have shown a fine grasp of our organization and the way it is operated and we are more than pleased to cooperate in the study. We are proud of Saugerties Schools and we appreciate the interest of the League of Women Voters in preparing a report for the public," he concluded.

Future Events Are Outlined by Local Democrats

Several future events were outlined in last week's meeting of the Saugerties Democratic Club held at Harp's Inn.

April 11: Flamingo Restaurant, spring dinner-dance. Jerry Ollinger chairman. Larry Thornton co-chairman. The journal will be headed by Homer Strong. July 4: Participation in the 4th of July parade to be handled by Ollinger with the assistance of Erica Hinchey. Late Summer: Annual picnic, which is a big social event for the Democrats and usually the campaign kick-off. Daniel Jones, chairman. Early Fall: Annual rummage sale. Jackie Rea chairman.

Attendance Lags As Illness Hits Rebekah Meet

Because of illness in the families of both the noble grand and vice grand of Queen Ulster Rebekah Lodge No. 34, Past Noble Grand Mary Landcastle presided at the meeting held last week in Odd Fellows Temple.

A communication from the 1970 Rebekah Assembly Session Committee was read asking for names for the booster page in the souvenir program and those wishing their names listed are requested to give their name and $1 to Florence Guppert not later than February 17.

Clean Air Group To Meet Feb. 26 In Saugerties

Ulster County Citizens Committee for Clean Air has scheduled a meeting Thursday, Feb. 26 at Roger Donlon Auditorium, Partition Street, Saugerties at 8 p.m.

All persons interested in the clean air program are invited to attend.

The meeting is scheduled in Saugerties because of action taken on January 24 by various individuals who signed petitions complaining of dust conditions allegedly caused by an area plant.

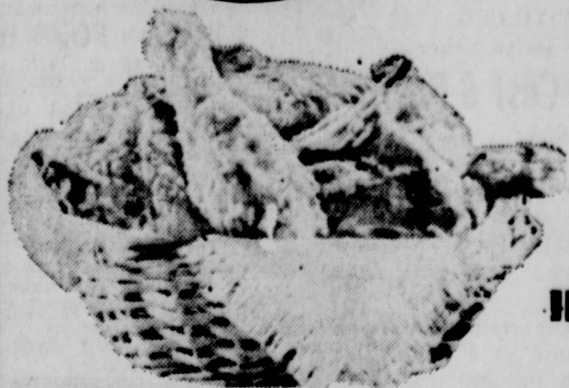

Senior Citizens Are Entertained By Seminar

A musical group of young seminarists from Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus, entertained Saugerties Senior Citizens Club at a recent meeting held at Dutch Arms Chapel.

The Rev. Robert Hess and Mrs. Alvin P. Messersmith, representing the Saugerties Area Council of Churches assisted senior citizens with questionnaires to determine the needs in the proposed senior citizen apartments planned for Saugerties.

President Jane Simon advised that meetings will again be held the first and third Thursday of each month. The next business meeting will be held Thursday, Feb. 5 at the chapel. Refreshment will be served by members of Girl Scout Troop 104.

Kids Study With Noise

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Generation Gap"—the mother who couldn't understand how her kids could study with all kinds of racket going on around them!

We have become so accustomed to noise that it doesn't distract us. We can "turn it off" in our own minds. I know that I cannot study unless I am tuning out some kind of noise. By the way, I am 16, and a straight A student.

going on. Your comment interested me. ("Send me his grades and I'll send you an answer.")

I am a high school teacher, and I asked for a show of hands of ALL the students who made it a practice to try to find a "quiet" place in which to study. NOT one of my honor students raised his hand! So maybe the kids of today are able to tune out distractions.

TELLING IT LIKE IT IS

NEEDS NOISE TO STUDY BY

DEAR ABBY: Re the lady who wrote and asked you if you thought her kids could really study with the noise of a television or radio going on. You said, "Send me their grades, and I'll send you my answer."

Well, it's not necessary to send their grades. I am 17 and I do all my homework while I'm watching television or listening to the radio, and I have a 3.4 grade average.

If I tried to study in a quiet place, I would never get my work done because I'd be spending all my time trying to hear what everyone else was doing.

A radio or TV tunes out all that other noise. It works.

I say, let kids study in whatever atmosphere they want to study in. They are old enough to know how they study best.

LIKES NOISE IN MANHATTAN

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column recently from a mother who asked you if you thought a child could really "study" properly with the television going full blast, and the racket of a stereo and radio

DEAR ABBY: It makes me so mad! Why can't parents understand us children? I saw the letter in your column signed "GENERATION GAP," and all I can say is there sure is a generation gap when it comes to "noise" and how it affects the younger generation as compared to how it affected their parents.

If I don't have some kind of "noise" around me, I can't concentrate on what I'm reading. This is the truth because I have tried to study in silence and I can't do it. I am a high school freshman and make straight A's.

15 IN AUBURN, KY.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe the kids are right. Years ago I lived near the railroad tracks, and I sleep like a log every night even tho I could hear that train whistle at all hours.

We moved, and I had a terrible time sleeping. I actually missed the noise of the train!

So, familiar "noise" can sometimes unconsciously give peace of mind and a feeling of security to a person. I say, if the kids want to study in a boiler factory, let them — if they make their grades.

GRANDPA IN DULUTH

DEAR ABBY: My kid is one of those who studies with the television turned up so high it can break your eardrum. He also claims he can "tune out" the noise so it doesn't bother him. So how come when he's talking on the telephone in somebody in the next room says, "boo" he yells, "SHUT UP — I'M TRYING TO TALK ON THE PHONE!"

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY FEBRUARY 5, 1970

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You get what you need. But you do not necessarily obtain what you desire. There is a difference — as you will discover before day is finished.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Pressure may be key. Your hand could be forced. This being the case, play your strong cards. Means don't hold back. Demand and give the best.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Not so good for travel, but you could make some plans. Realize that what you think now may not suffice for all time. You are ending one phase of activity.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): New approach necessary to avoid money waste. Be independent: be sure you are getting what you pay for — insist on quality. Accent today on deep emotional concerns.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): No day to be insistent. What you need is presented — no demands required. One who consults you ultimately provides valuable information. Be receptive — and co-operative.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may want to travel, to call long-distance. Key is to know what you want to request. Tendency is to ask for too much, too quickly. Outline ideas; prepare workable format.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Many express good intentions. But you will have to double check details. Some are careless at your expense. Realize this and take appropriate precautions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You can take positive steps to reinforce security. Important to know content of any agreement. Take nothing for granted. Encourage long-range view.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Some necessary material has yet to be made available. Promises that what you need will be forthcoming are not enough. Demand proof and you will get it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Money situation is due to improve. Your great ally is patience. time. Don't rush. Realize aid will come from unorthodox source. Bide your time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): There are challenges — which you successfully meet. Those in authority are on your side. Realize this and respond with confidence. Be forthright, specific. Say what you mean.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Finish rather than begin project. There are some loose ends which require your personal attention. One who is usually reticent speaks up — and tells truth.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are dynamic, fond of travel, would make fine reporter, writer. You are due for domestic adjustment which could include change of residence.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

"OUR LIFE": (Q.) I wrote to you that my girl friend is going out with a Puerto Rican. Well, I decided to tell you the truth. I am the girl who is going out with that Puerto Rican.

To me, and maybe to you since you are understanding, it doesn't matter what color or nationality he is. I love him and he loves me. You said in your letter to me that it takes a strong relationship to stand the pressures. Well, we have that relationship and we don't care what other people think.

It's our life. Why shouldn't we live it?—A Fan of Yours With Her Mind Made Up in Bridgeport, Conn.

(A.) I suspect that many who write me about their "friends' troubles are really writing about their own. But that's all right. They get the answers, anyway.

It is hard to say with complete assurance that any relationship will hold up in the face of all the pressures of life. If yours is to last you will have to work very hard at it. And I am sure you will. Good luck.

THE WORD'S OUT: (Q.) There is a girl in my eighth-grade class with a very good personality. I call her every once in awhile. My boy friend is spreading a rumor that I like her. I do like her a little but I don't want anybody to know. I don't want to lose her as a friend.

What can I do?—Talked About in North Carolina.

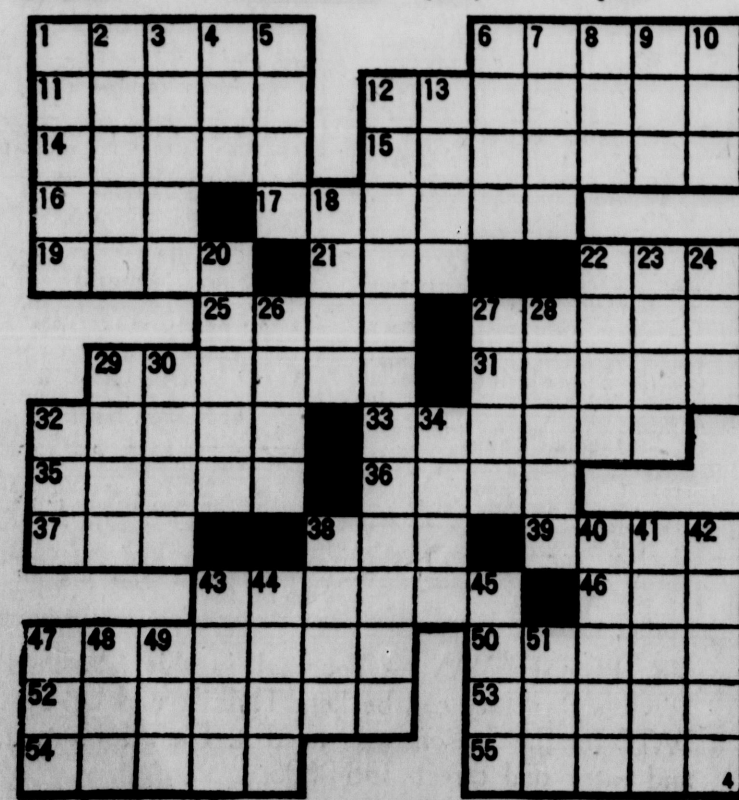

(A.) You can be quiet. Do not go around denying what your friend has said.

In the first place, it would call even more attention to your interest in this girl. In the second place, to deny what is the truth would be to tell a lie.

Grim Choice for TV Viewers

NEW YORK (AP) — Television viewers with an appetite for actuality programs had a grim choice Tuesday night. NBC in its monthly magazine program "First Tuesday" showed a segment filmed in sections of India now in the midst of famine. CBS, in its biweekly magazine program "60 Minutes," was simultaneously concentrating on the agony of a Spanish bullfight.

The program also told of a woman who took over an abandoned movie theater in a Death Valley ghost town and painted the flaking walls with murals to simulate an audience. The woman gives solo ballet performances daily—whether anyone comes to see her or not.

A scary short feature presented conflicting opinions on whether there is danger of an earthquake hitting a plutonium plant in the state of Washington where millions of gallons of radioactive water are stored.

A sharp change of pace was the film of the basketball madness that sweeps Galesburg, Ohio, but it was nice to see happy, busy high school students concentrating on sports and cheer-leading.

CBS' program started at about that point, with a report on what cohost Mike Wallace called "the bloodless revolution" in the motion picture industry.

The revolution is made by the young, Wallace said two out of three moviegoers today are between 16 and 25, and they go to see movies "made about themselves."

The young film makers like to shoot low-budget movies on location, he said. There were bits from interviews from some of the young and avant garde, including the makers of "Easy Rider," a smash hit.

At that point Cleveland Amory took over with his vivid report on "man at his crudest" in the bullring, and this viewer beat a hasty retreat.

NBC wound up its second hour with a film portrait of Bernadette Devlin, the young member of Parliament who faces jail for her part in the conflicts in Northern Ireland.

The photography and the handling of the profile was revealing about what Mike Wallace called "the bloodless revolution" in the motion picture industry.

Both are such good programs that it seems a shame they come on the same night.

The Brooklyn Heights Casino is a social and tennis club that entered a team in the first Brooklyn team championship back in 1933. The team qualified for two final knockdown rounds and went on to win. They were so surprised by their victory that they retired undefeated. Three of the members never entered another tournament.

Today you are the late Thomas P. Sturgis playing the South hand in the final round. P. Hal Sims, one of the greatest players of all time, opens the queen of clubs against you and since Edward Hymes Jr. sitting East is another all-time great, it is up to you to make the contract without any help from your opponents.

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET

No, Gwendolyn, a debutante is not an ill-fitting denture.

Don't know whether it's cheaper to go to Florida till spring or have the furnace fixed.

With Valentine's Day coming up it occurs belatedly to those poor souls who are unhappily married that "stupid" is about the only word that rhymes with the name of the cherub who totes the bow and arrows.

There's quite a difference between being well-off and well-fixed, if you move in political circles.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Now let's try to follow Tom's reasoning. Here it is:

"I want to make my contract and overtricks aren't important. If diamonds behave there will be no trouble with it. But let's see if I can't find the safest possible line of play. There is no point ducking the first club. It looks as if I should start with the spade suit and keep the diamonds for later."

"I will win the first trick in dummy and lead a spade to my queen. What do you know? The spade finesse has worked. Now if I can make four diamond tricks I am home. Isn't there some sort of safety play with this diamond combination?"

"Sure, there is. I can play my ace of diamonds first and then lead a diamond toward dummy. If West shows out I will rise with dummy's king."

"It seems that West has followed. Now all I have to do is play dummy's nine. It is just as well I played it this way, since the nine has held. Now I take dummy's king, repeat the spade finesse, give Sims a trick with his queen of diamonds and make my contract with an overtrick."
